Community Fund Aided

Store Staff 98%

Employes of the Montgomery Ward & Co. were singled out for praise today by Community Fund officials after reporting contributions from 98 per cent of the work staff.

Lon Rowles, assistant manager, is shown at right turning over employe donations report to Ralph Finley, campaign vice chairman.

Rowles turned in nearly three times what the group gave last year and reported nearly half of the 42 employes signed up for payroll deduction.

Standley T. Hilbert, general chairman of the drive for $83,173 for the six participating agencies, joined in commending the employes, declaring, "This is typical of the inspired effort that I know is going to put our campaign over the top."

Hilbert also praised the employes of the Schell Heating Co., 301 Pennsylvania Ave., where all contributed, and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. office where 95 per cent participated.

Early reports from the Board of Education indicated a minimum of 90 per cent participation by teachers and employes at six schools.

The agencies, which will derive some of their operating funds from the donations in the East Liverpool - Chester - Newell - Wellsville area, include Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Salvation Army, Recreation Council and USO.

Strike Ended By Kiln Crew At Knowles

Back To Work Step Taken On Promise Of Meeting Monday

Kilnhands at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. agreed today to return to their jobs Monday morning, ending a walkout that has idled about 850 fellow workers since late Wednesday.

The "back-to-work" agreement was reached in a meeting with the plant management shortly before noon today on condition a conference will be held Monday afternoon between officials of the firm and union spokesmen to thresh out the kilnhands' grievances.

In the meeting this morning, representatives of the Knowles "master committee" and spokesmen for Local 9—the kilnhands' union—met with the plant management. The firm explained the resumption of work was set for Monday morning because it is the earliest time at which operations could be scheduled again.

Despite a "back-to-work" agreement reached at a meeting yesterday, Local 9 voted to continue its walkout and maintained picket lines around the plant at the 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. shift changes. The men had been scheduled to go back to their jobs at 11 last night, pending a meeting next Thursday between management, the plantwide committee and an international union official.

The walkout first affected the plant at the 11 p. m. shift change Wednesday, when other members of the International Brotherhood of Potters declined to cross the kilnhands' picket line.

Management said "an awful lot of items" were concerned in the walkout, including a question over the rights and benefits of an employe who was discharged and later rehired.

Battle Over Formosa Strait

Chinese Nationalist Jets Down Five Red Planes

LEBANESE ARMY TROOPS and vehicles try to hold back marching Christian Falangist demonstrators, mostly women and children carrying broomsticks, in Thursday's incident which touched off a street battle in Beirut. Four people were reported killed and more than 20 injured. Lebanon's new President Faud Chehab is preparing to use an emergency military government to quell impending full-scale civil war. Lost Single One Of Own, Report Says

Peiping Declares Communists Downed 2, Damaged Third

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Jet fighters of the Chinese Nationalists and Communists battled over the Formosa Strait today. The Nationalists said five Red planes were downed at a cost of one of theirs.

The Nationalist air force said machine-gun fire from its F86 Sabre Jets shot down four MIG17s. A Sabre Jet collided with a fifth MIG, sending both crashing into the ocean and killing the Nationalist pilot, a spokesman said.

Peiping radio claimed Communist planes shot down two Nationalist Sabre Jets and damaged a third. It said one Nationalist pilot "has been captured alive." Red losses were not mentioned.

The Nationalists now claim they have shot down 34 MIGs and damaged or possibly destroyed 11 more since the Communists began bombarding the Quemoy Islands Aug. 23. In that period the Nationalists say they have lost only the plane in today's collision.

The Defense Ministry said six Sabre Jets were patrolling southeast of Matsu, a Nationalist offshore island 150 miles north of Quemoy, when 20 MIGs jumped them. The Sabre Jets were in the area because MIGs strafed tiny Tungyin Island in the Matsu group Thursday, a spokesman said.

It was the largest aerial battle since 32 Sabre Jets clashed Sept. 24 with more than 100 MIGs. The Nationalists claimed 14 MIGs shot down in that engagement.

News of the battle climaxed the observance on Formosa of the 47th anniversary of the revolution which overthrew the Manchu Dynasty and led to establishment of the Chinese Republic. Falling on the 10th day of the month, it is known as the "Double 10th" holiday.

President Chiang Kai-shek said in his annual address that the Nationalists had won the first round of the battle of Quemoy. He predicted they would win the "second round" and eventually would recover the mainland from the Chinese Communists.

The cease-fire around the Quemoys continued into its fifth day, and the Nationalists moved more supplies into the offshore islands. Both Nationalist and Communist gunners stood ready on either side of the narrow stretch of coastal water separating them but neither fired.

There was still no clear indication whether the Communists intended to renew shelling of the Quemoys when their self-imposed cease-fire ends at midnight Sunday.

On A-Test Ban Talks

U.S. And Britain Snub Soviet Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain are sticking to their idea that special ambassadors — not their foreign ministers — should seek to negotiate an agreement banning nuclear weapons tests.

The two governments have drafted a note to Moscow turning down a Soviet proposal that foreign ministers of the three powers meet at Geneva Oct. 31 for that purpose.

Diplomatic informants indicated, however, that the Western powers would leave the way open for a possible meeting of foreign ministers to ratify such an agreement if and when it has been worked out by East-West negotiators at a lower level.

Some diplomats said that in drafting the note the Washington and London governments sought to give a "yes but" reply to the Soviet Union's unexpected call for a conference of foreign ministers.

Their purpose, it was said, was to avoid being placed in a completely negative position — a position which the Soviet government might use as an excuse for scuttling the projected Geneva meeting entirely.

The three powers had agreed earlier that they would meet at Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate on the political problems of a test suspension agreement.

Several Soviet maneuvers in recent weeks have led high officials here and in London to fear that the Soviet government may be pulling back from a workable test suspension plan.

One was the Soviet resumption of testing after she had announced last March 31 she was suspending nuclear weapons tests, and after the United States and Britain had said they were ready to suspend tests by Oct. 31.

Another was her surprise proposal that the Oct. 31 Geneva meeting, to which she previously had agreed, be raised to the foreign ministers' level.

The latest came in New York this week in a statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. He said the Soviets wanted the United Nations to vote for an immediate suspension of testing by all countries. But he also said that the Soviet Union needed to continue tests until it had equaled the number of test explosions recorded by the United States and Britain since March 31. Such a test program would extend beyond the scheduled opening of the Geneva meeting.

U.S. Warns Soviet On Tests After Oct. 31

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States warned today that any Soviet nuclear tests after Oct. 31 would nullify President Eisenhower's offer to withhold further testing for a one-year period.

The warning came from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in a major disarmament speech before the U.N.'s 81-nation Political Committee. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin was expected to state the Soviet views during the opening round of debate.

Child Tumbles On Gas Pedal, Causes Crash

A youngster tumbled onto the accelerator of his mother's auto Thursday night while she was maneuvering into a parking place, causing a collision with a parked car, police said.

A 1954 sedan driven by Mrs. Lois A. Rice, 31, of 1014 Avondale St. collided with a 1953 auto owned by Loral C. Smith of Newell while the woman was pulling into a parking place on the lot of the Thorofare Market on Pennsylvania Ave. about 6 p. m., officers said.

Mrs. Rice told police she stepped on the brake, causing her son to tumble off the seat and onto the gas pedal. The auto lurched and hit Smith's car, she said. There was damage to the front of Mrs. Rice's car and the right door of Smith's auto, officers said.

A city water department truck was involved in another collision at 10:15 a. m. Thursday on Henry Ave., officers said.

The collision involved a 1950 auto driven by Gene Nicholson, 20, of 1927 Allison St. and a 1955 model truck driven by Harold M. Peterson of Henry Ave., the water department's distribution foreman, officers said. Nicholson told police he was traveling east on Henry Ave. when the city truck, backing from a driveway, hit the left side of his car. There was no damage to the city truck, police said.

Search Ends For Body Of Boy In River

Dragging operations were discontinued today but searchers continued to patrol the Ohio River in hopes of spotting the body of 14-year-old East Liverpool boy believed drowned when he fell from a makeshift raft Wednesday.

Dragging for the body of David Casto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Casto of Lincoln Ave. and a student at Westgate School, was continued all day Thursday until dark.

Authorities said David and his two brothers, Allen, 9, and Gary, 11, along with William Thomas and Charles Jones, both 14, played hookey and walked toward Wellsville.

They wandered near the shoreline and found the makeshift raft, the boys said, and David pushed the raft from shore. When the raft tipped, David jumped into the river to swim to shore but couldn't make it. He grabbed onto the raft and started to drift downstream.

His companions ran for help and returned to see David's jacket on the raft but he had vanished.

East End Man Hurt In Attack

Unconscious Victim Left On Sidewalk

A 21-year-old East End man told police he was left unconscious on the sidewalk by two men who attacked him from the rear about 2:29 this morning as he walked on Pennsylvania Ave.

Jessie M. Reed, 2106 Pennsylvania Ave, was released from City Hospital after treatment for a laceration over the right eye and brush burns. Police were summoned to a service station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St., where Reed went after the attack and asked the attendant to phone headquarters.

Reed said he knew of no reason for the attack. He said he had been at the Veterans Social Club on Pennsylvania Ave. near Virginia Ave. from 9:40 last night until the closing time at 2 this morning. He said the two unidentified men approached him from the rear and knocked him to the pavement.

Reed said he did not know if the men fled afoot or in an auto, as he was unconscious after the assault.

19 Are Killed As Air Force Craft Crashes

Transport Making Emergency Landing In Idaho Tragedy

PAYETTE, Idaho (AP)—An Air Force transport, apparently trying a wheels-down emergency landing crashed and burned with 19 servicemen aboard Thursday night. All were killed.

A team of Air Force investigators began a probe today amid speculation the twin-engine C123 may have run into a flock of geese.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to be gliding in for a landing just before it smashed nose first into a brush-covered hillside on a ranch near this southwest Idaho community.

"There were three lights blinking and the wheels were down," said irrigation worker Norman Meadows. "It looked like he was going to try and make a landing."

Officials from Idaho's Mountain Home Air Force Base said the 19 aboard were all Air Force personnel. They said the plane was en route to McChord Field, Tacoma, Wash., from its home Pope Air Force Base, N.C.

Identity of the victims was withheld.

Sheriff Ray Stephens said some witnesses told him they saw a flock of geese in the area at the time of the crash.

Fire from the wreckage burned some five acres of brush.

A tenant on the Nelson ranch, Claude Smith, said his wife shouted as he was doing his evening milking that a plane had crashed. "We went right over there but couldn't get up close enough to give any help," he said. "We found a piece of torn newspaper. It was dated today, from Oklahoma City."

Can't Take Personal Control, Mirza Says

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — President Iskander Mirza says he had no legal authority for abolishing all government in Pakistan and taking personal control with the army.

"My authority is revolution," the former major general said Thursday night. "I have no sanction in law or constitution."

Mirza declared the constitution annulled Tuesday and named Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan as chief administrator for martial law over Pakistan's 80 million inhabitants. The two career officers defended their coup in a talk with four Western reporters.

Thousands Pack Basilica

Pope Pius' Body Brought To Rome

ROME (AP)—The body of Pope Pius XII, clad in funeral robes, was brought today for the last time to the Basilica of St. John Lateran, his See as bishop of Rome.

The funeral cortege, which started from the pontiff's Castel Gandolfo Summer Palace where he died early Thursday arrived at the basilica at 3:25 p.m.

Hundreds of thousands of people were packed in the basilica and in the streets and piazza adjoining it. Throughout Italy millions more listened to or watched the solemn program on radio and television.

Other thousands had lined the 18-mile route, part of it along the Appian Way, as the procession passed by.

From the Basilica of St. John Lateran, after a ceremony of absolution, the funeral procession led to Vatican City, the tiny state of which he had been supreme ruler for 19 years. He left it on July 27 to go to his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo.

The City of Rome, its walls posted with funeral notices and festooned with half-staffed Italian and Vatican flags, was hushed, almost oppressively so. Hundreds of thousands jammed the streets of the city.

The Pope's body was clad in his most formal episcopal robes. Over a white silk cassock with a long train was drawn a long white alb, a full-length vestment reaching to the feet. Over the alb was a red and gold dalmatic, an outer vestment, and a red chasuble or sleeveless cloak. About his neck was the pallium, made of bands of lambs wool.

On his head was a tall golden mitre. There were red gloves on his hands and red slippers on his feet. Those are the robes in which he is buried, wrapped in a red silk shroud.

Burial will be in St. Peter's, probably Monday, with mourning continuing through Oct. 19.

Cardinals, other high prelates, and the entire diplomatic corps to the Vatican, representing nearly 50 countries, were present at absolution rites in the basilica.

The motor hearse carrying the pontiff had glass walls, but the coffin was covered by red silk, and the body was not visible.

Along the route men, women and children stood hushed. Some wept. Priests and nuns said their rosaries as they waited and watched the hearse go by.

A motorcycle escort of Italian police preceded the hearse. Ahead of it were two cars carrying church dignitaries.

The Pope's body was viewed at Castel Gandolfo Thursday night by 15,000 persons. This morning thousands more entered to pay their last respects.

Unmanned Space Satellite

U.S. May Attempt Another Moon Shot Early Saturday

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Columbus Day, the 466th anniversary of the discovery of America, may find American scientists probing toward a new world in space.

Although there has been no official announcement, the Air Force reportedly is ready to make another try at hurling an unmanned space satellite to the vicinity of the moon — possibly before dawn Saturday.

Thus, if all goes well, man's first device to explore the moon area would be well on its way on Columbus Day, Sunday.

This is so because a rocket flight to the moon—some 221,000 miles away at this particular time—would take a little over 2½ days.

The first moon probe attempt by the Air Force failed Aug. 17. The rocket exploded after 77 seconds of flight.

The four days starting Saturday are the best in October for traying a moon shot. During this period the moon is closest to the earth. The shot will be fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

There is no plan actually to strike the moon with the 85-pound lunar probe mounted in the nose of an 88-foot, three-stage rocket.

Ruling Slated 'Next Week' In Police Cases

Judge Takes Motions For Study To Drop Burglary Indictment

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard this morning took under study motions to dismiss seven burglary indictments against three former police officers and a special officer, and said he would have a written ruling "sometime next week."

The motions were argued in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon by attorneys for Ira Cunningham, Robert Carroll and Louis Stuttler, ex-officers, and Jerome Raimond, former special officer, who were indicted in 1956 for a series of enterings.

Trials for the four were slated to begin Monday, but Judge Buzzard today continued the start of the trials until Oct. 20, pending the outcome of his decision.

Rocket Blown Apart Shortly After Liftoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A powerful Jupiter rocket was blown apart in a blazing display of missile fireworks over Cape Canaveral Thursday night.

It was the third ballistic weapon in a row to explode shortly after liftoff in the past month.

The Jupiter — the usually reliable 1,500-mile missile which also will provide the big punch for the Army's moon rocket—was deliberately destroyed after it swerved violently out of control several thousand feet high.

One huge chunk crashed back on the cape with a roar; other debris splashed into the ocean nearby. No one was injured and there was no property damage reported.

Salvage crews searched for broken pieces of the 60-foot rocket to help Army missilemen determine the trouble.

The Jupiter thundered aloft from billows of white flame and smoke, but appeared to sway slightly as it climbed toward space. After 32 seconds it was blown up by the range safety officer.

There was a bright flash and an ear-splitting noise. Then the broken war rocket spun earthward in looping, cartwheel fashion, trailing streams of white flame.

Balmy Autumn At End With Frost Predicted

That balmy weather that has prevailed this week is supposed to come to an end tonight — frost and a chance of freezing is the forecast.

The Ohio Weather Bureau said the temperature will dip to 35 to 40 tonight and that the day's high will be near 70 but the chilly snap is expected to develop this afternoon, cutting off occasional showers.

The mercury soared to a humid 75 at Dam 8 at Newell Thursday afternoon and the overnight low was only 60. It was 66 at midnight. There was a trace of precipitation from an early-morning drizzle.

Saturday will continue cool and cloudy.

Parolee Held In Check Case

U.S. Marshal To Get Custody Of City Man

Released after serving over 6 years of an 18-year federal sentence, an East Liverpool man was arrested Thursday night at a relative's home in Little England as a parole violator, accused of passing worthless checks.

Clinton O. H. Samberson of W. 3rd St. is scheduled to be turned over today to a U. S. marshal. The pickup order issued in mid-September by a federal Parole Board said he has nearly 12 years remaining in a sentence imposed on charges of assault with intent to commit rape and assault with intent to commit murder.

The warrant shows he was arrested while serving in the Army. He was released Aug. 30, 1956, from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

Police had been seeking Samberson for several weeks on the federal warrant. Officers said he was accused of breaking parole by passing four or five fraudulent checks since his released.

Samberson also had made his home in Wellsville and at the home of his brother, Abe Samberson of Little England, where he was taken into custody.

town, Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville and Atty. Samuel Chertoff of East Liverpool, "counsel for the defendants, claimed the indictments should be quashed because they had not been tried in the alloted number of court terms.

Similar motions were made in January by the defendants, claiming the trials had not been held in the three terms subsequent to the indictments. Judge Buzzard rejected the motions then after Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said he had more evidence in the cases.

This morning the defense counsel said the law requires the court to dismiss the indictments if the trials are not held after a motion to dismiss, such as was made in January, has been turned down.

Assistant Prosecutor Warren Bettis argued for retaining the indictments, pointing out Judge Buzzard had been ill during part of the April term.

Judge Buzzard was also slated to hear today a motion by Atty. Chertoff to obtain all information, such as fingerprint reports, concerning the charge of burglary against Stuttler which is to be tried in this term of court.

The charge was made in an indictment handed down in June by the recalled April Grand Jury, and is not among those indictments which Judge Buzzard is studying for possible dismissal. Stuttler in this is charged with a 1954 entering of the Burbick Hardware Store.

Police Could Say This Was House Burglary

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Policemen called by Andrew Gosa, 26, to investigate theft from his automobile weren't sure the case shouldn't have been entered as house burglary.

The car was equipped with television, radio, record player, sliding trays for use as tables, cigarette dispenser and electrical outlets for such appliances as a razor, skillet and coffee pot. And a burglar alarm, linked to the horn, which warned Goss that someone had broken in.

Part of the loot was a cake. Asked where in the car that came from, policeman Gene McGovern replied:

"Gosh, I don't know. There might have been a kitchen in the back seat for all I know."

Softest Thing About U.S. Youth Are Heels

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The softest thing about American youth today, in the opinion of Marine Corps recruit depot doctors, are their heels.

Moon

Included in the payload are 25 pounds of instruments—notably a television-type scanning device designed to get rough pictures of the side of the moon never before seen from the earth. Other instruments are intended for counting meteorites and for determining whether the moon has a magnetic field. And the probe is equipped with radio transmitters for sending information back to earth.

Lunar probe rocketeers have cautioned that complete success would hinge on perfect functioning of some 300,000 parts of the payload and its launching rocket.

The rocket would have to reach speeds up to 24,000 miles an hour to escape the earth's gravitational pull. In this connection, the rocketeers say the venture would be considered a partial success if the rocket was able to break away from the earth's gravity.

Gov. Underwood Saw Something Missing

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood found something missing on the ballot in the recent West Virginia primary election. His name. Underwood, 35, was elected to the House of Delegates when 22, and he served successive terms there until he ran for governor two years ago.

The primary marked the first time since he came of voting age that he didn't have an opportunity to vote for himself. He's not a candidate in this election.

Hot Dog Bothersome

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—This watch dog almost did too good a job. Firemen who answered a call at a residence here not only found a stubborn blaze awaiting them but a stubborn Doberman Pinscher. They had to fight a bedroom fire through a window until a neighbor was able to call the dog away from where he was barring firemen from entering.

Grave Is Preserved For Unknown Relatives

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — A weather - worn iron fence sets off an 8-foot square plot between an oat and corn field on the Walter Amstutz farm south of here.

Although names and circumstances have been lost in time, it is believed to be the grave of a pioneer child who died during the trek west in the early 1800s. The Amstutz family has preserved the grave on the chance relatives of the child may someday seek it.

One Guess Will Be Plenty

Newspapers and radio stations controlled by the government of Egypt have loosed some of the vilest slanders and slurs against the United States ever made in a part of the world where character defamation is a household art.

Every outburst of this kind raises a question of the purpose to be served. Nothing ever happens by chance when the propaganda masters of the Kremlin are in a position to call the tune, as they presumably are in Cairo.

This is not to say they are in full command and certainly not to accept the too-easy allegation that Cairo is only an outpost of the Communist side in the cold war against the United States and its allies and dependents. It is to say only that Cairo, having made itself dependent on Moscow for weapons, must sing Moscow's tune whenever the music starts.

One guess will be plenty to nail down the likelihood that the slanders and slurs in Egypt-controlled newspapers and on radio stations are the overture to a resumption of violence, mob scenes, international tension and frantic diplomacy in the Middle East.

The obverse side of this likelihood is that little will be heard for a while about the Far East, where the United States has been kept guessing and gambling by the shelling of Quemoy since last Aug. 23. It will suit the purposes of the international gadflies that string Uncle Sam first here, then there to concentrate on the Middle East for a change.

It could be that the Red Chinese are running short of ammunition or have something else to do that seems more important. It could be that the Egyptians have been needing a workout to prove once more the potential usefulness of their vengeful government in the campaign to badger and belittle the Western nations.

It could even be that in Moscow they have a machine that grinds out chance combinations of delivery to keep human beings in a state of endless fear and chaos. It doesn't seem to matter too greatly what the combinations are.

Moscow merely needs to take advantage of what is all too plain about human beings gullible enough to dance to its propaganda tunes. All it has to do is start the music. Ignorance, prejudice, greed and human lust for violence will do the rest.

Unlimbering The Big Guns

If there had been any doubt that the showdown on compulsory unionism in Ohio and California this year was the Gettysburg of the 20th century struggle for power over the nation's industrialism, the role of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt would have dispelled it.

Mrs. Roosevelt is one of the big guns of that branch of the Democratic party which can see no wrong in anything its political allies in unionism want to do. Her devotion to the politicians of the labor movement can be traced unsullied to the Democratic convention of 1940 whose delegates were instructed by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt "to clear everything with Sidney." The "Sidney" referred to was the late Sidney Hillman, who at that time had outgrown his first career as an organizer of the textile trades and had made himself available to steer the New Deal coalition.

Mrs. Roosevelt is no more political popgun to be fired at random, like Harry Truman. She is used for bombardments only on the occasion of great battles, such as national conventions.

She now has fired a broadside in the showdown on compulsory unionism in California and may be expected in good time to take a shot at Ohio. Her prime target in California, somewhat oddly, was Irene Dunne, a member of the U.S. delegation to the General Assembly of the United Nations — the same post once held by Mrs. Roosevelt.

What had brought Miss Dunne into the line of fire?

Miss Dunne had accepted an honorary position in an organization in her home state of California interested in barring compulsory union membership in that state's showdown this year. Mrs. Roosevelt's strongly partisan blast accused Miss Dunne of having been taken into camp by "fraudulent" arguments.

Miss Dunne is a Republican. Republicans in the showdown on compulsory unionism are lining up in favor of individual freedom of choice. That is the real reason she has been designated as a target for a blast by Mrs. Roosevelt, herself, because most Democrats are lining up with union politicians who are still dreaming of having everything cleared with them, the way it once was cleared with Sidney Hillman.

They want to do the choosing.

Integration Is A Moral Obligation

In the babel of angry voices arguing legalities, it is rare to hear a voice that affirms the morality involved in the issue over segregation.

Whether Americans find their morality in the tenets of organized religion or in the ethics that are their heritage in a Christian civilization, integration is the brotherhood of man.

Integration, therefore, cannot be a point in moral dispute. It is a moral obligation to treat all men as equals. There are no second-class citizens in a society based on Christianity.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida has gone directly to this point in a plea for Christian leadership to develop a constructive plan for solution of racial tension. He has asked the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Miami Beach to concern itself with a "constructive way out of the darkness."

Extremists, he told the convention, have nothing to offer. He might have added that political extremists have less than nothing to offer, because they are a handicap to those who are trying to make progress.

Americans who dare to think constructively about human rights — who have not been terrified by political and economic pressure —could find a plan which "can be supported with honor by people of every race, creed and color." This is the wish of a governor of a Southern state. It should be the wish of every American of good faith.

Some things are too precious to be kicked around by politicians. The morality of the American people is in sore need of defense by all who take their moral obligations to heart.

Matching Standards

A return to reading for relaxation has been encouraged here by an energetic Carnegie Public Library program.

Not only has the interior of the library been modernized, the exterior cleaned and operations simplified, but the staff and library board have waged a successful campaign against public apathy toward books.

Special literature programs for young people, maintenance of up - to - date stacks of books, interesting recommendations for reading, extended hours and many other courteous efforts of library personnel have kept the institution in step with library progress everywhere.

Among the criteria by which a community is judged are its cultural facilities. Another is the manner in which the citizens avail themselves of the facilities.

It is hoped the latter standard will match the first in East Liverpool.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Ball players demand a cut in the TV pie. We thought they were getting it all along, just from shaving.

But it seems the great rank and file of players have never cashed in through their beards. Since this is the age of fantastic money from the show biz, they now seek a 25 per cent share. They are actors as well as ballplayers, and perform for millions who never go to a ball park.

If frontier marshals and cowboys get paid for TV thrills why shouldn't shortstops? Most ballplayers have everything the western characters have, except cow ponies, wide hats and bad plots.

But when they get money through TV, will they lend themselves to TV critics and popularity polls? How will Mickey Mantle react to a review saying, "Mr. Mantle's performance lacked fire and there were times when he didn't seem to like the material. His batting isn't open to criticism, but he needs better writers"?

How will Lew Burdette take: "He is a star who has stirred audiences, but his diction is so poor we could not hear what he was saying in a dramatic argument over a fourth ball"?

TV DOUGH can go to a ballplayer's head and lead to arrogance on the diamond, requiring umpires to carry "six guns." The Western influence could penetrate the game to a point where we would see a knuckleball hurler take such a firm stand against being removed that he would not leave the box without shooting it out with the manager in a scene giving a touch of "High Noon" to a ball game.

The prospect is not too happy, once ballplayers read the TV magazines instead of baseball writers. It is plain human nature for TV performers to put emphasis on personality, novelty routines and their value in the dramatic moments. The day may come when the most highly rated first baseman in a league can be an Elvis Presley.

Would a home-run king with a Milton Berle's confidence be satisfied with 25 per cent?

Would a Jimmy Durante consent to play third base without a piano?

A NEW YORK COP, John B. Gaul, has inherited $2,500,000, and it's nice to hear of a policeman getting that kind of break. Cops have tough going, with their lives at stake daily. They are kept busy by thieves looking for money, and by people with money trying to keep it. They are ever deep in crimes with money at the root.

When one himself strikes it rich, a cheer is called for. The only question is how a cop must feel when life is suddenly made soft and safe. The switch from constant peril, stern duty and hassles with assorted punks to the golf course, the Union League Club and tax consultants can be hard.

It won't be easy for a cop, retired as a millionaire, to hear, "There's a gunman down the street," to reply, "Can't you see I'm busy playing billiards?"

The Imperial Dam, which stretches 3,475 feet across the Colorado River and raises its level by 23 feet, makes possible the existence of the All American Canal in California and the Gila Main Canal in Arizona.

Challenge To The Taskmaster

GOP Woos Labor Rank And File

By Victor Riesel

It was Dick Nixon who did much of the talking at the President's strategy luncheon last Monday—because it is Dick Nixon who now is the Republican's national strategist. And President Eisenhower likes it that way.

Victor Riesel

It was Dick Nixon's decision to come out slashing at "the left wing" as he did successfully in most of his early campaigns. He revived it on the road during his recent tour. His audiences went for the attacks, he felt, as he unleashed them from the speaker's platform. This he told the President at the Republican backfield huddle the other day.

The White House declaration of war on "politico - labor bosses" is a swift wheeling away from Mr. Nixon's more recent middle-of-the-road policy of wooing even the top union chiefs.

THOSE WHO BELIEVE they know Mr. Nixon's reasoning say that he finally feels that nothing can be gained by avoiding a head-on attack against the national labor leaders.

This "to-hell-with-them" attitude will be denied if there is a direct query to the vice president. But it is a fact that he and his colleagues — and the President of the United States — now believe that there are millions of rank-and-file union members who are dissatisfied with the politics of their union chiefs.

The vice president has a healthy respect for opinion polls. Some of the results of these doorbell surveys show considerable public uneasiness over the McClellan Committee's exposures. Mr. Nixon believes that the disclosed villainy can be turned into votes.

It was apparent from President Eisenhower's comments on labor that his party can pick up votes from working people in and out of unions.

THE PRESIDENT said "we" can be proud of the rank-and-file's conditions which right now are the best. "We" have a real story to tell the working man which no politico - labor leader can dispute and "we" ought to be "selling" it to the people in good, hard campaigning, the Chief Executive told his party leaders.

Some of those close to Mr. Nixon saw more in the vice president's strategy than just an attack on politico - labor leaders. One of the facts of political life which Mr. Nixon saw for himself in the raw on the road was the broken coin bank condition of his party in many areas.

In some political circles there was little doubt that Mr. Nixon and his colleagues in the GOP joint high command were bluntly telling industry to get off its swivel chairs — to contribute cash and to campaign. This was seen in the pile-driving reference to "nationalization and socialization of industry. . ." if the Democrats win.

FEW INDUSTRIALISTS have been contributing either money or manpower. There have been some local contributions, but certainly no outpouring of big dollars into national GOP war chests. Typical is the Rockefeller gubernatorial campaign in New York where the financial burden is being carried by a comparative handful.

But even the money isn't all-important for, oddly enough, it can't buy manpower. Certainly nothing which can match the tens of thousands of unionists who are even now organizing doorbell and telephone ringing squads — and car pools for V-day — V for voting.

Mr. Nixon and his associates want to stir the corporations into competing with the labor political machinery right on the street level. One recent survey of political activities by corporations disclosed that not more than 10 of the thousands of major U.S. firms were in "practical politics" — the new phrase.

Even this is a long count. Most of these 10 actually are using the fall campaign as just rehearsal for 1960.

ONE OF THE FEW corporations now racing to set itself into position to challenge the union campaigners is Gulf Oil. Its senior vice president, Archie Gray, tells me, "We are in the process of preparing a plan or program which corporations can safely and legally follow in this field." He reports that it is far from complete "as yet."

It is this sort of activity which the Republican high command hopes to stimulate while it is going after the rank-and-file voters as well.

It's a bold bid. And Dick Nixon is hitting the road to make it, as he did in campaigns of old when he stumped against "the left wing."

Letter To The Editor

In our "Buy American" campaign, we have been stressing the buying and selling of cheap foreign imports. Perhaps we have over-emphasized the point to such an extent that we are being misunderstood in our aims.

We are the first to admit that there are many imports that offer no competition to American Industry. Where would we be without our import of coffee?

It was pointed out to us that there are many imports that are far superior to any that could be made in this country. A local camera merchant stated that in his business it is necessary to stock the best type of parts for certain cameras and that the finest made are from a foreign country.

In such a case, we can find no fault, as the product is far superior to domestic parts and offers no competition to American industry. This particular merchant has refused to stock the cheaper foreign-made cameras that would be in direct competition to the better American-made product.

The merchants of this community must band together if this campaign is to succeed. The merchant who offers the cheaper foreign-made products for sale after the majority of merchants have agreed not to sell them could not care as much for his fellow American as he does for the feel of American money in his pocket. The buying public is mostly to blame for the flood of foreign imports. As the break in a dam starts with just a trickle, so did the flood of imports. At first we saw just a few foreign products, but as the market found a place for these more came flooding in. Now we are almost inundated by them. But as a flood is stopped by slow but thorough damming, we also can stop the flood that is threatening American industry.

We cannot expect the local merchants to lose money by not stocking the products the buying public requests, but the public can help themselves and the community by requesting American - made products.

We want to make it possible for the American worker to make a living for himself and his family. We feel that we all deserve a right to earn at least a decent living. We are being denied that right by the flood of foreign merchandise to this country. Each item that is sold in this country, but manufactured in a foreign country, is a threat to our own welfare except — as stated earlier—where the product cannot be manufactured as needed in this country.

This "Buy American" campaign is not just a tri-state drive. It is a national drive. The committee heading this drive mailed a letter in July to each central labor body in the country asking that they join us and start a drive like ours in their own community. Many of them have done so. One union in Virginia is going to join us by sending our request to their branches throughout the state. Many cities in Ohio have their campaigns in full swing.

Our local committee is sponsoring "Buy American" messages on WOHI—Monday and Friday at 12:44 p. m. and Wednesday at 5:50.

The people of this area are asking the merchants to help by:

1. Agreeing to offer for sale only American-made merchandise and to give preference to goods bearing union labels, wherever possible.

2. Dedicating the month of September of each year as "Buy-American — Buy Union Label Month."

3. Having a committee of tri-state merchants to work in co-operation with the "Buy American" committee.

4. Pledging moral support and—if necessary—monetary support to this campaign.

Earl Crytzer,
Chairman, Buy American—
Buy Union Label Campaign

Parties Mixed Up

By David Lawrence

Roles Seem More Liberal, Conservative

Maybe the time has come to change the names of the two major political parties in America. Speakers for the Republican party, for instance, have lately reverted to the custom of their forefathers in resenting the idea that the opposite party may take unto itself exclusive possession of the word "democratic" with a small "d" when they feel it really has ceased in that respect to be "democratic." Republicans are beginning again to refer to their opposites as "the party of the Democrats" or "the Democratic party." Conversely, the Republicans, in large part, have ceased to be "republican" with a small "r."

David Lawrence

The Constitution explicitly says that the federal government "shall guarantee to every state in this union a republican form of government." Nothing is said about Arkansas, or Virginia, or any other state being excluded from this provision.

To ignore the rights of the states and to support the doctrine that a Supreme Court in Washington may alter at will the basic document that specifically provides its own method of amendment is, in the North, considered "democratic" with both a large and small "d," as well as "republican" with a large and small "r," but just the opposite in the South.

On economic issues, Republicans like to think of themselves as "conservative," while northern Democrats prefer to call themselves "liberals."

Examination of voting records in Congress would indicate that most Democrats from the North are liberal spenders of citizens' income and are not much interested in conserving the dollar's purchasing power, as is, for example, Sen. Byrd, the Virginia Democrat.

Republicans would more fittingly be described as the "conservative party" were it not for the modern belief, propagated by the radicals, that to be conservative is to oppose all charge and "progress."

WHAT IS "progressive"? — A word that used to be proudly proclaimed in the slogans of the Republicans of Theodore Roosevelt's era?

Today, under the still - powerful impetus of the New Deal and Fair Deal, the country is in the throes of a progressive inflation that everybody fears. But nobody prominent in either party seems willing to advocate steps necessary to reverse the trend.

Today, "public spending" is supposed to be "popular," and there are in both parties those who actually believe the bigger the federal deficit the better off the country will be on the economic side.

As for "monopoly," this used to be a fighting word in politics. Republicans point proudly to the fact that they originated anti-trust laws, and Democrats say they did more to enforce them than their opposite numbers.

But the Teamsters' Union today holds a monopoly on transportation far more powerful than any railroad combine of the past. Democrats, in control of Congress, are afraid to do anything about labor-union monopolies, because they get their big campaign funds from the unions, just as Republicans of yesteryear used to collect campaign funds from the "wicked corporations."

So the continuing progress in the nation's free - enterprise system is being stifled by the leaders of a party that calls itself "democratic" with both a large and a small "d," while too many Republicans inside the administration, deciding to become "modern," have convinced themselves that a fundamental principle of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution —the right to work — is just a "state matter."

Public - school education — always a "state matter" heretofore —is, on the other hand, considered by a Republican administration to be subject to the discipline of federal troops in the corridors of a high school.

IN SOME COUNTRIES they name political parties after individuals. The hero of political science in America today is Machiavelli — the man whose name is associated with the doctrine that "the end justifies the means." Both parties could qualify for the right to use that slogan.

The real names of the two major parties in the North ought to be "conservative" and "socialist," respectively, though neither party will admit that the predominant strength within its ranks deserves to be thus described.

The central idea of socialism is government control or regulation of almost everything. Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina, Democrat, in a speech this week, says of the Democratic - controlled Congress: "The action taken in the legislative halls of the 88th Congress justifies the statement that in Congress, as well as in the Supreme Court, socialism is preferred."

Republicans who still believe in the constitutional rights of the states and in conserving the dollar's purchasing power should not be reluctant to call themselves "conservative" in the legislative halls of the 85th Congress.

The republic is not going to be saved by pampering the individual and misleading him into thinking that the billions collected in taxes will be forthcoming every year just the same when industries are socialized and the spirit of free enterprise is broken in America.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Every time I see a kid with a yo-yo, I wonder if the 20th century's best investment might have been part ownership in a yo-yo plant. Each year there's a revival of interest in what once was thought of as a novelty. Hula hoops may work the same way.

On days when time hangs heavy, it is not unpleasant to wonder how Marilyn Monroe is getting along without any publicity.

As a football spectator in an era of ball-handling deception, I am no smarter than linemen and linebackers who consistently tackle the opposing back who doesn't have the ball.

It is interesting to note that sirens could be taken off ambulances, as far as a committee of the American College of Surgeons is concerned. With almost no exceptions, says the committee, patients have nothing to gain by all that careening and noise-making.

Perhaps you have noticed it too —that some of the things which once would have been compelling on television are not compelling any more. Even the bad men in the Westerns aren't as bad as they used to be.

In the wake of the collapse of those unbecoming dress styles, is not this republic now equipped with the most expensive bunch of dust cloths and wiping rags ever put into use in any one country at any one time?

There is grim, mirthless justice in the fact labor unionists complain because all unions are made to suffer for the misdeeds of the bad ones, because that is what many unionists have done to employers.

The only summer delicacy I miss when the season ends is ripe tomatoes out of the garden. Out-of-season tomatoes never taste half so good, because they were picked before ripe to make it feasible to ship them to market.

Edmund Burke said it: "All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing." Where can anyone find a better quote than that in an election year?

It takes 10 times as long in Russia to earn the money for a man's good-quality suit or a vacuum cleaner as it takes in the United States, according to information brought back by visiting steelmen. This is in case anyone wonders why there is a shortage of good-quality suits and vacuum cleaners in Russia. Same reason there's a shortage of caviar in the United States. Does this make everything clear?

As a matter of principle, expediency and safety in politics, it is my belief that no public official ever should get something for nothing, such as the use of an automobile, a parking space, a free ticket, or a free vacation. Besides making all pay-as-you-go citizens look like chumps, it makes the official look like a chump whenever some opponent tells what he has been doing.

To present belittlers of the U.S. Supreme Court justices, this passage from a concurring opinion by Felix Frankfurter in the Little Rock case is commended: "The conception of a government by laws dominated the thoughts of those who founded this nation and designed its Constitution, although they knew as well as the belittlers of the conception that laws have to be made, interpreted and enforced by men."

Head Of Union Cites Support Of Fund Drive

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and its individual members and local unions lend their unqualified support every year to Community Fund drives in East Liverpool and other cities throughout the nation, E. L. Wheatley, president, declared today.

Wheatley declared that "labor has learned through experience the important role that voluntary health and welfare agencies play in the community and the nation. We know the good work that United Funds and Community Funds have done in helping the sick, the aged, the handicapped and the youth of America."

He pointed out that many members of the IBOP serve on community agency boards and committees and work on year - round activities in their home communities.

A single drive conducted last year in 2,100 cities in the United States and Canada raised $412 million to support 27,500 agencies serving 72 million people, Wheatley declared.

He added: "I urge all our members, our affiliates and locals to continue to support the united Community Fund campaigns by joining with their neighbors as volunteers and by giving generously through the united appeals drive in their local communities."

About 50 city teachers and Parent - Teacher Association members were among 400 who attended a meeting and mental health clinic held Thursday night at Salem High School by the Columbiana County Mental Health Association.

A panel discussion on pupil personnel services included guidance, child study, psychological analysis and contributions of special services.

It was brought out that physical handicap services have been available since 1920, but mental health handicaps have only recently been brought to public attention.

Speakers said adequate child study services in school solve major portions of the problems in the classroom. The number of psychiatric personnel in the schools depends on the community needs.

Specific recommendations included the need for special services for gifted children, psychological training should be available from grades 1 through 12, every group of 5,000 children should have a full - time social worker and mentally retarded children should have special classes.

Robert Walker, director of child study and guidance at Akron schools, was moderator, and speakers included Dr. Oscar Markey, psychiatric consultant in Cleveland schools; Robert Gibson of Toledo University, Raymond Horn, State Department of Education child study consultant, and Miss Amy Allen of the state department.

A tour of the new high school preceded the dinner. Atty. Bryce Kendall of Salem, president of the association, was in charge.

Pope

The first stop on the route was at the Basilica of St. John Lateran, the Pope's titular church as bishop of Rome in the southeast part of the city. There cardinals, prelates and officials waited to perform the service of absolution.

From St. John's, the route led through Rome's curving historic streets and across the Tiber to St. Peter's Square.

In St. Peter's Basilica, the body will lie in state until its burial, either Sunday or Monday, in the crypt below in the resting place chosen by the pontiff.

A symbolic coffin, replacing the real coffin, will remain the center of mourning rites in St. Peter's until Oct. 15. Then the symbolic coffin will be removed to the nearby Sistine Chapel for another three days of mourning.

Thousands of mourners filed past the dead Pope Thursday in the first public obeisance after the gates to the summer palace were opened at dusk. Many carried children in their arms past the still figure on the platform covered with red silk. A film of cellophane was stretched over the bier.

In the crowd were most of the Pope's summer neighbors, residents of the village to which he came annually to escape Rome's heat. Outsiders swelled the crowd, and at one time more than 15,000 were packed in the palace courtyard.

There was some pushing and shouting when the papal guards began to close the gates at 10 p.m.

One woman fainted and a child suffered bruises in the crush.

"He was our pope," some in the crowd cried in protest at the closing of the gates.

Another crowd of 2,000 had gathered in the cobbled square by midnight, seeking admission.

Among those ushered into the palace was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, who had left his homeward-bound pilgrim ship at the Azores to fly back for the obsequies and the conclave that will elect a new pope.

He was led up the marble staircase by Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella, who was elected Thursday by other cardinals as the church's chief executive until a new pope is chosen.

Most of the 55 living cardinals were arranging to be in Rome before the end of the official mourning and for the great election consistory which will meet as soon as possible after Oct. 24, 15 days following the death.

But several of the princes of the church are ill and others will be prevented from coming by the Iron Curtain.

Man Denies Robbery; Hearing Slated Monday

Robert Higgins of Shadyside Ave. pleaded not guilty when arraigned today before Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp on a charge he joined with two other men in the strongarm robbery of a Chester man near Glenmoor July 18.

The judge continued Higgins' preliminary hearing until Monday morning and fixed bond at $1,000. Higgins is accused of complicity with Ray Junior Hess of Kountz Ave. and William Drumm Jr. of Chester R. D. in the $500 robbery of Clyde Finley of Box 81, Chester. Drumm and Hess were bound over earlier. Bond was set at $500 for each.

Finley said he was robbed of money he intended to use to buy a used car in East Liverpool. Hess and Drumm were arrested over the weekend. Higgins surrendered himself early yesterday.

But Cow's Balky

Chicago Fire Re-enacted

CHICAGO (AP)—The great Chicago fire of 1871 was re-enacted Thursday at the site where the conflagration started, supposedly after Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern.

The small fire in the reproduction of the O'Leary barn didn't cause any trouble for the firemen, but the cow, a brown Swiss, was a balky bossy and wound up playing the leading role.

To start off, Fireman John Baldwin, wearing a polka dot gown and bonnet in his role as Mrs. O'Leary, led the cow into the barn and tied her in a stall. She balked. Baldwin led her outside and then tried to lead her back in, but she wouldn't go.

Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn took the lead, and the cow responded to authority, calmly clumping into another stall. Baldwin then sat on a milking stool and got a fair flow of milk in a bucket. Then the cow was again led outside as it was time to burn the barn.

Stockyards workers sought to load her on a truck. She balked again, broke loose, and ran a block with six men in pursuit. She was recaptured but refused to get into the truck. Firemen finally got her aboard.

Then the barn was set and the program went off as planned.

This was the last fire on the historic West Side site, the fire department said. Construction will start soon on a 5½-million-dollar building, the department's Fire Academy. The re-enactment was in connection with observance of Fire Prevention Week.

In the fire of 1871, which started Oct. 8, more than 300 persons died, some 90,000 were made homeless, and property damage was estimated at more than 200 million dollars.

DiSalle Says O'Neill Failed To Live Up To His Promises

CLEVELAND (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle accused Gov. C. William O'Neill today of making meaningless promises about juvenile delinquency after failing to keep the ones he made in the 1956 campaign.

The Democratic nominee for governor noted that the Ohio Welfare Conference recently spoke out on Ohio's overcrowded juvenile institutions and the need for better trained personnel to man them.

"The answer of the governor was a pledge that he would appoint a committee to study the problems of delinquency and youth," DiSalle said.

DiSalle said that during the 1956 campaign O'Neill vowed that his program would include legislation, citizen group cooperation, parent education, along with every possible means to alert Ohio citizens to the gravity of the problem.

"None of these promises has materialized," DiSalle declared. "If they had, there would be no need to repeat them now."

"If there is anything we don't need," he continued, "It's another study. The Ohio Legislative Service Commission issued a full research report just last year. The Ohio Committee on Delinquency and Crime made another exhaustive study. And a committee of the U. S. Senate this year and last produced other reports."

DiSalle said Ohio's program should include more emphasis on rehabilitation, segregation of the more severe cases from those less severe, better utilization of foster homes, expansion of voluntary diagnostic clinics, psychological training of teachers to aid in early detection of behavior problems, supervised employment for children not benefiting from further education and expanded use of honor camps to substitute wholesome work on state projects for mere detention.

Hearing Slated Oct. 24 On Bid To Guard Crossing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There will be a public hearing Friday, Oct. 24, on a request that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad install protection at a Ross County crossing where three youths died March 21.

The Utilities Commission Thursday set the hearing date. The railroad is trying to get federal aid through the state highway department to improve the crossing at the village of Vigo.

A commission inspector, B. F. Turner, inspected the crossing and said that, in his opinion, additional protection is not needed because of light traffic over the crossing. He suggested brush around the crossing be cut and that cars now parked around a grocery store be parked elsewhere, to provide a better view of the crossing.

The Ross County safety committee asked additional protection.

Addresses Ohio Republicans

Nixon Insists GOP Needs To Win Backbone Nov. 4

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What the Republican party needs to win in November is backbone, says Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The vice president urged his fellow Republicans Thursday to display "some of the same backbone" Harry Truman did in winning the 1948 election in the face of adverse forecasts.

"Let us resolve from this day forward," Nixon told an enthusiastic state GOP convention," that we Republicans are not going to be defensive, apologetic or mealy-mouthed in telling voters of this country about the magnificent record of the past and the great promise of the future if the sound progressive policies of our Republican administration in Washington are continued."

In comparing the Truman administration with the Sherman Adams case, Nixon called the Truman era "the most corrupt administration in history."

He said the difference between the Truman administration scandals and the Sherman Adams case was that "about the only way you could get people of government when Mr. Truman was president was to put them in jail."

"Five of the top officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue were guilty of criminal actions," the vice president declared.

"The Republican Party goes to the country this year with a six-year record of accomplishments that is the best in history," Nixon asserted.

Answering Democratic criticism of the administration's foreign policy, he said:

"I realize they (the Democrats) say our firm position against communist aggression in the Formosa Straits runs the risk of war.

"Our reply is that despite all the criticism they have directed at our policies in the past six years, this administration has been able to accomplish an objective which they were never able to produce in the 20 years they were in Washington.

"We have peace without surrender and prosperity based on peace and not on war or as a result of a war."

Turning to the domestic scene Nixon said the election of more Democrats to Congress would mean more taxes and a cheaper dollar. He added:

"You can kiss goodbye any chance for effective labor legislation if you increase the number of those Democratic congressmen and senators who will owe their election to contributions and support of the very labor politicians they are supposed to control."

Gov. C. William O'Neill, who shared the rostrum with Nixon and U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker, also hit the theme of labor corruption. He told the convention he would not permit labor bosses to upset Ohio's favorable business climate.

"Neither Walter Reuther nor James Hoffa nor any of their lieutenants will dominate Ohio as long as I am governor," he said.

Reuther is president of the United Auto Workers and Hoffa is the head of the Teamsters Union.

Sen. Bricker told the convention the major issue facing the next Congress is the problem of sound financing.

During the Truman administration, Bricker said, the dollar lost 50 per cent of its value as compared with a drop of only six per cent in value since Eisenhower took office.

Speaks To Baptists

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Harold Cooke Phillips told the 133rd state convention of the Ohio Baptists Thursday night that racialism still is the God worshiped by millions, although it is a complete denial of the Christian God. "As for the communists," he said, "how one wishes they were really atheists. Instead they are fanatical believers in a God made in their own distorted image." Dr. Phillips is the pastor emeritus of Shaker Heights First Baptist Church.

Kansas Man Faces Decision To Stand Or Sit For Life

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — By a week from today 32-year-old Harry Blitz must decide whether he wants to spend the rest of his life standing or sitting.

Blitz shocked the seventh annual Kansas Governor's Safety Conference Thursday with the story of how an automobile accident wrecked his life.

It was the evening of Nov. 23, 1957, when his small foreign car crashed into a stalled truck west of Wichita as he was driving to his home at Colwich.

He lay unconscious in a Wichita hospital for 20 days. He suffered severe head and face lacerations, loss of his left eye and loss of sense of smell and taste. His right leg was fractured in 63 places. He suffered a nervous breakdown.

Blitz lost his job as a salesman and went on relief to feed and clothe his wife and nine children. He had been averaging about $9,000 a year before the accident.

An operation is scheduled at a Wichita hospital next week and Blitz hopes it will make it possible for him to resume work.

Blitz spends much of his time in traction to relieve painful muscle pressure on nerves in his legs and pelvis. Doctors think they can stop the pain by fusing his body in a sitting or standing position. Blitz must decide which he prefers.

The story of the great flood is found in Genesis 9 of the Bible.

Taking Political Spotlight

Right-To-Work Proposal Red Hot Issue In 6 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big question to be decided in the Nov. 4 elections is whether right-to-work laws are to be enacted in six more states.

The issue is a red hot one. At times it has overshadowed in interest the congressional races. Politicians are far more concerned with it than with any of the 270 constitutional amendments and referenda being voted on in 39 states.

Eighteen states, mostly in the South and West, have such laws. They provide that membership or non-membership in a labor union shall not be a condition of employment or retention of a job.

The six states voting on the question—which has divided members of both parties—are California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Ohio and Washington. If approved by the voters, the proposals would bar employers and labor unions in those states from negotiating arrangements providing for compulsory union membership of workers.

Spokesmen for organized labor, vigorously opposed to the right-to-work laws, say they are concerned about their chances of defeating the propositions mainly in Idaho and Ohio.

Political observers also believe right-to-work advocates may have an edge in Kansas.

The issue has been particularly prominent in California. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Republican candidate for the Senate, has some labor support because of his opposition to the right-to-work amendment. Sen. William F. Knowland, Republican candidate for governor, has drawn labor's fire with his advocacy of the amendment.

In Ohio Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill, seeking a second term, came out last week for a right-to-work amendment. His Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, previously had taken an opposite position.

In Kansas, Democratic Gov. George Docking, running for a second term, is opposed to the right-to-work amendment, but his party's platform opposes it only indirectly.

Publisher Clyde Reed Jr., Republican gubernatorial candidate, has written editorials opposing such laws, but has taken no position in the campaign. Reed and his party platform say the GOP will be guided by the mandate of the voters and that the question is not a campaign issue.

President Eisenhower has adopted a neutral attitude on the issue. He told a news conference Oct. 1 it is a matter for each state to decide. Shortly before that GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn said he felt advocating such legislation was poor politics, tending to alienate workers.

On the Democratic side, many southerners espouse right-to-work legislation, but the northern wing of the party generally opposes the idea.

The Taft-Hartley Law permits the union shop except in states which outlaw it. Under the union shop, a worker need not be a member to get a job in a plant, but must join the union concerned within a certain period.

Unions claim a union shop is necessary to prevent non-members from getting union benefits without paying dues as their share of the cost. Right-to-work advocates contend compulsory union membership is immoral, infringes on individuals' rights and tends to build up union dictators.

The 18 states with right-to-work laws are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia.

New Approach In Disposing Of Radioactive Waste Started

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—A new approach to the formidable problem of disposing of radioactive wastes has been started at the Atomic Energy Commission's eastern Idaho testing station west of here.

To illustrate the problem, Dr. Richard F. Post of the University of California's Radiation Laboratory once said that if all present power were supplied by nuclear fission reactors, "we would have to dispose each year of an amount of radioactive fission products equal to that from the explosion of 200,000 atomic bombs."

That makes current fall-out problems from the few nuclear bombs exploded each year seem trivial.

The new method takes the liquid (water is often used to cool or moderate the reactor) radioactive waste and dries it in a flash by spraying it across hot granular beds.

The waste left is a solid occupying a great deal less space than when it was in the liquid. Scientists of the Phillips Petroleum Co. and Argonne National Laboratory who developed the process estimate it will reduce the volume of waste to about a seventh its previous bulk.

The solidified waste can then be stored in a much smaller space than required to store the liquid in tanks.

Fluor Corp., Ltd., of Los Angeles began work on the six-million-dollar pilot plant this week. Completion is expected early in 1960. The AEC said it, Fluor and Phillips designed the plant.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Precipitation will average from two to three tenths of an inch near Lake Erie to one tenth of an inch or less extreme south. Light showers or possibly snow flurries near Lake Erie Saturday and Sunday then a slight chance of showers over the entire state Monday.

Wildcat Strike At Chrysler Plant Comes To End

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A wildcat strike affecting 1,600 employees at the Chrysler Corp.'s Twinsburg stamping plant has ended.

The end of the strike came a few hours after Summit County Common Pleas Judge Stephen C. Colopy issued a temporary injunction Thursday preventing pickets from interfering with movement of workers in and out of the plant. No hearing has been set on the company's request to make the injunction permanent.

After strikers removed the picket lines, 500 second-shift workers entered the plant Thursday.

Picketing had started Sunday in protest against the company's refusal to reinstate a union official who was fired last August from his job as a crane operator. He was charged with insubordination by Chrysler.

Twenty-six of the strikers were fired by the company Wednesday. Local and international union leaders had urged the work stoppage to be halted and that the men return to their jobs.

Kiddies Never Leave Really Important Items

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Kids will leave mittens, scarves, faloshes leave mittens, scarves, galoshes tending Saturday movie matinees. But a water pistol or coonskin cap? Never.

A survey of lost and found departments of several downtown theatres showed mounds of clothing that mother made their offspring wear when they went to the movies. But there was hardly a slingshot, space helmet and other such REALLY important articles in the whole pile.

Youth, 5, Gets Mail, Fire Boxes Confused

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Young Francis Davis was filled with pride at his first test of responsibility—mailing a letter for Mommy. But nobody told him about mail boxes and fire alarm boxes.

When he couldn't find a slot to insert a letter in the big box on the pole, the 5-year-old tried pulling the lever on the box. He was still trying minutes later when nine Pottsville fire trucks, sirens screaming, arrived.

Well-Shod Woman Has 250 Pairs Of Shoes

WHIPPANY, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Hazel Hooper has a collection of more than 250 pairs of shoes — from jeweled miniatures to exotic slippers — and has never bought a one.

Her friends send them back from their travels. "Everyone knows that when they go away they buy a shoe for the Hoopers," she says.

An Indian Gift

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government helped 73,056 persons learn more about yoga during the last two years. Minister of Education K. L. Shrimali told the lower house of parliament this was the number of persons who had received training since 1956 in three institutions aided by government funds.

Metropolitan Federation Amendment

Voters Seen Backing Question No. 1 In Ohio's Rural Areas, Small Cities

(Question No. 1 on the Nov. 4 ballot in Ohio would enable 12 counties with cities of more than 50,000 population to vote for or against metropolitan federation. This is the last of four articles outlining what the state constitution amendment would mean.)

By GILBERT F. SHEPARD
Brush-Moore Staff Writer

Although Ohio's rural, small town and small city dwellers through the years supposedly have been rather insensitive to the needs of the state's metropolitan areas, it is believed they will back question No. 1 when it comes up or a vote on Nov. 4.

VOTE YES ON QUESTION 1

Question No. 1 is the proposed amendment to the state constitution which would permit federations of governmental units in counties which contain a city of 50,000 or more population, in order to provide economical and effective municipal services to the metropolitan area.

Through such arrangement, a large city could band together with contiguous townships, communities or the county government itself to pool the cost of vital community services.

AMONG THESE services are police and fire protection, highways, water supply, garbage disposal, parks, welfare and recreation.

Belief that residents of small communities and farmers will support the amendment, even though it does not concern them directly, is voiced by many proponents of the consolidation idea.

They base their conclusion on the fact that the State Legislature, a body dominated by the rural vote, in 1957 authorized presenting the amendment to Ohio's voters at this year's election.

If rural sentiment had been against it, they reason, the Legislature would have balked at even submitting it for a vote.

-:-

NOT THAT there weren't any objections to the idea by lawmakers. There were.

But so far, no organized or determined opposition to the amendment has arisen and its backers believe passage can be effected if voters throughout the state know what is involved.

They hope that the rural areas will be "neighborly" enough to make it possible for the amendment to pass and thus enable large cities to use the federation method of solving some perplexing problems.

CITIZENS of the rural areas are aware that these problems have stemmed out of rapid growth of suburban living in these larger communities which, uncontrolled, has become something of a Frankenstein monster.

The resident of the small city or the farmer, has no problem like this and is glad he doesn't. The outer perimeter of smaller cities remains free and uncluttered, usually, by other incorporated or unincorporated municipalities.

Problems here can be solved by the village council and a ruling by that body generally suffices. There are a minimum of other legal jurisdiction to contend with.

But not the metropolitan city. Here, suburban communities block expansion of the city limits in almost every direction.

-:-

THEY FORM an effective barrier to growth even though more territory is needed to house new arrivals to the city or induce revenue-producing industry to locate there.

Present requirements under Ohio law for bringing new territory into a city generally work against cities.

A favorable vote by a majority of residents of the area to be annexed is required and oftentimes suburbanites are not willing to come into the city because of the higher tax rate they would have to pay.

The tax base in most suburban developments, mainly derived from residential structures, generally is insufficient to support the necessary health and service functions of the community.

-:-

NOT ONLY THAT, but when an industry does locate there because it can't find a site within the city, the suburb is not in position to provide adequate facilities and services.

A metropolitan area, experts say, should be an integrated whole when it comes to water supply, highways, sewers, garbage disposal and other matters.

Today, unfortunately, this is not the case, because of conflicting jurisdictions.

The only way integration of services can come is through federation for one or all of the services, proponents of question No. 1 say. And even that cannot happen unless rural voters are willing to back up their larger neighbors in the coming election.

-:-

NOTHING IS BEING imposed on any county by passage of the amendment. It is purely permissive and leaves it up to individual eligible counties whether they want to set up a federation or not.

Eligible immediately to establish such a consolidation if the amendment passes are Canton, Lima, Hamilton, Springfield, Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Lorain, Youngstown, Dayton and Akron.

Expected to qualify perhaps, after the 1960 census, are Zanesville, Mansfield and Warren. Those cities were near the 50,000 mark in 1950 and may be over it by 1960.

Any federation must contain the city of 50,000 and as many or as few other political subdivisions as desired.

NO TWO COUNTIES, however, may federate — although a federation may take over the functions of a present county government if electors of an area so decide.

Backers of the amendment point out that federation in many cases might take place instead of incorporation for communities on the edge of a larger city.

Under this procedure, the municipality might want to continue a limited township form of government and participate in the consolidation which could perform more adequately the services that a small village cannot afford by itself.

FEDERATION ALSO might provide an answer for cities seeking annexation of outlying territories after being blocked in such a move for one reason or another.

Under this plan, benefits would accrue to both city and suburbs without the necessity for suburbanites to participate in every city service with the resultant obligation to pay for these services.

Question No. 1 is a companion amendment to another approach by the voters in 1957 which permitted counties of 500,000 or more population to draw up a county charter for home rule.

Six counties in the state have the requisite number of people to take advantage of the new law.

Allotment Transferable For Farmers In ASC

Any farmer with an acreage allotment who loses his farm because of public needs may, in effect, take his allotment with him to another farm, C. C. Herron, chairman of the Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, explained today.

Under a newly passed law, in event the state or federal government takes over a farm for highway or other public use not involving the production of allotment crops, the farm's allotment will be put in a pool with the allotments of other farmers who have been displaced by a similar action.

A displaced owner may then petition the county committee for return of his allotment for use only on another farm that he owns or acquires. The displaced farmer has three years in which to make application for the return of the allotment, Herron said.

Farmers who are confronted with eminent domain action are advised by Herron to call at the county ASC office in New Cumberland for full particulars on their allotment rights.

BPW To Distribute Booklets To Keep Children From Harm

The Business & Professional Women's Club Wednesday night authorized the health and safety committee to purchase 2,000 booklets for distribution in public and parochial schools to prevent harm to children. The club met at the Travelers Hotel.

The booklets, entitled "This Is for You," will be distributed by school authorities for the third, fourth and fifth grades.

They will be illustrated with pictures similiar to those in comic books to teach children to beware of strangers. Delivery is expected in several weeks.

The legislation and public affairs committee reported it attended City Council Monday evening as part of the observance of National Business Women's Week which began Sunday.

It will assist Council by writing letters to outlying districts asking residents for their opinions on the question of time change.

The committee reported it had contacted members, urging each to vote in the Nov. 4 elections.

A fashion show followed business meeting with the Bendheim Shoe Store and D. M. Ogilvie & Co. participating.

Mrs. Mildred Blumenthal narrated for the Bendheim display and Mrs. Ottis Gibson for Ogilvie's.

An Executive Board meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 28, at the hotel at 7:30 p. m.

About 10 members will attend the fall district meeting Sunday at Columbiana.

The next meeting will be Nov. 12 at 6:30 p. m. at the hotel. Mrs. Nessie Dunlop presided in the absence of Mrs. Ethel Wambaugh, president.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Should We Be Concerned Only With Talented?

In this column, I long have urged parents and teachers to seek ways of inducing the gifted child to develop his talents as far as possible.

By Garry Meyers

Since sputnik, there's been a wide national clamour to attract more of our bright children to science and mathematics. The chief reason has been the need for more scientists and technologists for national defense.

—:—

EDUCATORS with wider vision would like to see more of the brighter children strive harder to develop their talents in all abilities in which they seem most able to excel. Everywhere attention is being turned on the intellectually elite among our children, roughly from a fifth to a tenth of our child population.

There's some danger that the large number of children who don't indicate, through tests and school records, their ability to succeed at college or even at basic academic subjects in high school, are going to be branded as inferior persons.

Might not these children tend to consider themselves unworthy? Might not their parents, too, feel ashamed?

As time goes on, how are we going to make these children and their parents feel important?

Theoretically, at least, we have accepted the principle that a man's wealth does not consist of the abundance of things which he possesses.

Should we not widen this principle to accept the fact that a man's importance as a person need not be judged by the abundance of "brains" he possesses?

—:—

IF YOU are smarter than the next man, what right have you to look down on him? If your children seem smarter than your neighbor's children, what right have you to treat your neighbors as inferiors?

Only the other day I heard the famous scientist, Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, say, "I'm worried about our problem of educating bright children in our nation, lest we don't also do our best to educate all children down the line."

I have been wondering if what I've emphasized recently about bright children in this column might cause some parents to feel themselves and their children unimportant.

Everybody is important. How long would our republic last if this were not so?

A copy of my "Prayer For Parents" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Episcopalians Reject Lord's Prayer Change

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Episcopal Church has shunted aside a proposed change in the Lord's Prayer.

The diocese of Harrisburg, Pa., proposed at the church's general convention Thursday that the words "lead us not into temptation," be changed to "let us not fall into temptation."

The matter was promptly referred to a long-range study committee.

Dismisses Rate Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission went through the formality of dismissing a $331,000 rate increase requested by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of its Newark customers. The commission acted Thursday after being notified that the company and Newark City Council had negotiated a settlement at a lower figure.

Teen-Agers Often Fail Posture Test

Teen-agers, try this posture description on for size and shape — you stand up to every inch of your height, you lean against your backbone instead of your waistband, and you walk with an airy lift of your head as if you heard a band playing.

Ida Jean Kain

Girls, if you are inclined to be careless about your posture, pull up short! Your posture shapes your figure. Well, what shape are you in? Could you model at a school fashion show? In a class of 130 girls, only 30 had a posture that could pass the test. Where do you stand — in the distinctive 30 or with the run-of-the-mill 100? It's really all up to you.

True, you cannot always just "will" perfect posture. If your shoulders are stooped, find out why. You probably have a muscular deficiency caused by nothing in the world but a lack of physical activity.

BY THE WAY, do you cut gym class at the slightest excuse? Or, when you do attend, do you go through the motions with about as much spirit as a wet mop?

You are the only one who can change your posture and your shape. Try a fresh approach. Ask your gym teacher to show you exercises to correct your posture faults, and then follow through. When you pull yourself up to your full height, make the middle muscles do the lifting — that's streamlining.

Check on your food habits too. Do you slight breakfast, complaining that you "just can't eat in the morning?" If you wake up tired, go to bed earlier. Then get up 15 minutes earlier in order to eat a good morning meal. If you're a girl with spirit, you'll get on the beam. Regardless of your weight, you need breakfast. You'll do better in school and learn easier.

If you are pathetically thin and tired, a good breakfast will help you to feel like a new girl. If you are too, too chubby, breakfast can keep you from piece-mealing later.

To get the "feel" of the right line-up, with discipline through the middle muscles, stand with back against the edge of a door. Stand so that head, shoulders, hips and calves of legs touch the door edge. Now pull down and under with hips and pull up-and-in strongly with the girdle muscles.

—:—

RELAX SHOULDERS, but keep snug control through the midsection. Walk away from the door, keeping control through the middle muscles.

Girls, get a picture in your mind of the way you want to be — weight at healthy normal, posture on the beam, and with a spirited band-playing walk. You can be that girl if you "will" to be!

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflet entitled, "Get A Lift With Posture." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

U.S. Army Deserter Back From Stockade

RIBEMONT, France (AP) — Wayne Powers was back from a U.S. Army stockade today with the French woman who hid him during 14 years as a deserter and gave him four children.

The couple is expected to be married soon, although Powers made no announcement after his release Thursday. He said earlier he planned to wed Yvette Beleuse.

Powers, 37, of Chillicothe, Mo., was arrested last March in the tiny village of Mont d'Origny when French police finally came across him. He was court-martialed and sentenced to 10 years in prison but this was reduced to six months.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Jackie Gleason Returns To TV

Jackie Gleason's first sketch on his return show last week involved my favorite among all his personalities, Reggie Van Gleason, who used to break me into little pieces.

John Crosby

This is the monstrously rich guy who was heralded on this show as a man "who wants to buy out the Atlantic Ocean and close it to the public." In a courtroom scene, this character is asked where he was on the night of Aug. 12, 1956, and he says he was coming home from a New Year's Eve party.

Well, that is the sort of wildly exaggerated drunk humor that used to make me come unstuck, but it fizzled badly on the opening show.

THE BEAUTIFUL blondes were there. Gleason himself was there with the manic eyeballs and the air of command and raffish authority. The jokes were at least as outrageous.

But somehow it didn't come off. Perhaps it was Art Carney we missed. Or maybe—and I prefer to believe this—it's just because this was the first show and we're all a little edgy and overexpectant — not only Gleason but the rest of us.

I'd had lunch with Gleason a few days before the show and he was raving about Buddy Hackett, his new sidekick who is taking the place of Carney.

"He's the greatest, that Hackett. Funniest man alive. And I'm going to give him a chance just to be himself. Nobody else ever has let him just be himself, which is the best thing he does."

-:-

HACKETT was introduced in the first sketch, but he seemed pretty much like all the other Buddy Hacketts we've seen on television.

Of course, here he was playing a character, Fritz, the Chinese houseboy, and it's just possible Mr. Gleason has other, more grandiose projects in mind later.

Hackett is a funny fellow, though, and I have high hopes.

Mr. Gleason's second major operation of the evening was with another of his characters, Fenwick Babbitt. This is a mild, popeyed, befuddled character, who perennially walks tilted.

It was one of those old Charlie Chaplin-type sketches where the guy is supposed to take the fur off the mannequin on the moving platform, climb a ladder, get another box, put a new fur on the mannequin, put the fur in another box as bells ring and pandemonium ensues.

It's mad, exuberant humor and I love it.

-:-

THE SCORE for the half hour was not good, and I don't know why exactly, but I expect things will iron out after a bit. After all, Gleason has been off the air for a couple of years. It takes awhile.

I asked him what he'd been up to while he was away.

"Oh, recording quite a lot. I've just finished recording the whole of 'Tale of Two Cities' with a great cast of characters. The thing will be scored by the Philadelphia Orchestra.

"It's going to be great. I don't think books are being read so I'm recording them. Word for word. You can listen while shaving."

It sound like an awful idea so I switched to comedy. Has he seen any good new comedians?

"Max Bygraves in London. He's just gorgeous. He knows everything. He knows how important it is to have the right kind of material and the right kind of curtain behind him."

-:-

THERE'S BEEN a lot of talk that everyone is too touchy so that you can't make fun of any person or profession or race, I said.

"I never liked to reap laughs at anyone's expense," said Gleason. "But I do think because of the touchiness of the public, there are a lot of things I can't do that I would like to.

"I can do a great version of 'de Kingfish' or of Burt Williams in blackface—but I don't dare. It was never the bus drivers who raised a stink about the Honeymooners—it was non-bus drivers who were afraid I was offending the bus drivers. The bus drivers loved it. I'm a member of their union.

"It bothers me that all the comedians want to be nice guys. Why can't a guy be a schnook? Look at W. C. Fields. He was great. You believe him because you thought he really acted that way at home. He really kicked babies and drank booze by the gallon. So when he did it on the screen you laughed.

"I got a couple new characters this year. I've got Rum Dum, a guy who is maggotty drunk all the time and always is getting kicked out of bars. You never see him take a drink. He isn't in a place long enough before he gets kicked out—all in pantomime.

"I've also got a brother-in-law situation comedy thing where I play the obnoxious brother-in-law and Hackett plays Herbert Hobbs —not a Casper Milquetoast, but somebody who is funny because he's so honest."

Court Income Climbs $1,060

City Given $6,369 Of Month's Revenue

Municipal Court collected a total of $6,599 in September and turned over $6,369 to the city treasury, it was shown today in the monthly report of Clerk Harold L. Powell.

The overall revenue was up $1,060 from August's $5,539 and the city's share climbed $1,174 from the $5,195 it received in the preceding month.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $28 to the state as its share of revenue resulting from Highway Patrol cases; $126 to the county, also from state cases, and $75 to the Law Library Association.

The overall amount handled by the court was off $103 last month. The court handled $3,157 in the civil branch and $6,410 in the criminal branch in September, for a total of $9,567. In August, it handled a total of $9,670 — $4,240 in the civil branch and $5,429 in the criminal branch.

The totals include funds collected on trusteeships and judgments in civil actions and refunded bonds in criminal cases.

The city's share of the September revenue included $627 in costs from civil cases and $5,741 in fines, costs and forfeitures from criminal actions.

A breakdown of cases showed: 85 civil cases filed, 81 disposed of and 162 left pending; 120 city criminal cases filed, 139 disposed of and 10 left pending, and 40 state criminal cases filed, 50 disposed of and 58 left pending.

Exemption From Military Service

U.S. Urged To Continue Its Theological Student Policy

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A high official of the Lutheran church today urged continuation of the government's policy of exempting theological students from military service.

Most theological students, said the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, accept the draft exemption "honestly and sincerely, without intent of evading the normal military obligations of citizenship."

But unfortunately, he told the 21st biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America, studies indicate that "a small minority of men have permitted the exemption provision to be a factor in their decision to enter upon the course of training for the ministry."

Dr. Fry, president of the ULCA, read from a report compiled from a special commission appointed to study the relationship between ministerial students and the military.

The commission stressed that military service by pastors and theological students "is not inconsistent with evangelical doctrine." But Dr. Fry said each student should be free to waive or accept the government's exemption according to the dictates of his own conscience.

In another report before the convention today, the ULCA's board of local missions said the church's two - year $1,322,000 evangelism mission "gave God's activity an intensity that was unprecedented in the 40 - year history of the church."

About 700 delegates representing the ULCA's 32 synods are attending the eight-day convention.

At Thursday night's session one of the major roadblocks to merger of the ULCA and three other Lutheran churches was removed when the convention voted to adopt a proposal to forbid ministers to join lodges or secret societies.

A heated debate preceded the crucial vote. It was considered a major concession by the ULCA which does not forbid its ministers joining lodges.

The three other Lutheran bodies—the Ausustana Lutheran, Finnish Evangelical Lutheran and American Evangelical Lutheran Churches—all ban lodge membership by their ministers.

The merger of the four churches into the United Lutheran Church of America is expected to take place in the early 1960s.

As adopted by the convention the ban would not apply to laymen or to ministers who held lodge memberships prior to the merger.

Far From A Toy

WENDELL, N.C. (AP) — Mrs. Brodley Roberts frowned when the snake fell from the chandelier at dinnertime. Another one of her son's toys! Only it wasn't. Amid screams from Mrs. Roberts and her guest, son Keith safely snared the eight-inch copperhead, which apparently had chosen the chandelier as a retreat from cold weather.

New Project On Space Due

Cincinnati U. Plans To Set Up Institute

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati has announced plans to set up a new institute on space problems. Mathematician-astronomer, Dr. Paul Herget, will head the project.

The university, in announcing the move Thursday, said it will be called the Institute on Space Science. Its main purpose will be to give advanced training and do research work.

Dr. Herget, director of the UC Observatory, has been in charge of the Navy Vanguard computing center at Washington.

The university said Dr. Herget has gained the interest of the National Research Foundation and Navy research officials in the project.

The Navy has already allocated $54,000 for work on satellite problems at the school, which next September will offer a three-year program leading to a doctorate in dynamical astronomy.

Dr. Herget said, "The need for the institute . . . arises from the lack of persons trained to deal with orbit problems and concrete solutions based on actual observation.

"The entire vanguard project does not have a single full time person on the staff who is competent in this subject. There was no one to be found who could be employed."

O'Neill Says DiSalle Only Repeated Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill says Michael V. DiSalle's statement that O'Neill received material assistant in the 1956 election campaign from William Presser is merely a repeat of charges that DiSalle has made before.

Presser, president of Ohio Conference of Teamsters, recently refused to answer questions concerning his union activities in an appearance before the Senate Rackets Committee.

O'Neill, who faces Democrat DiSalle in the November gubernatorial election, said Thursday he will reply to his opponent's charges "At the proper time."

Hard Luck Dogging Man In New Jersey

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP) — Bad luck is dogging Cumberland County Freeholder Max April.

His car turned over in August, and he was thrown out, suffering serious bruises.

Last month, the April Brothers orchard in Millville had a fire with damage running to $150,000.

Thursday night, April hobbled into the Board of Freeholders' meeting on crutches. He explained he fell off a platform.

In Impressive Ceremonies

Medieval Pomp, Pageantry Surrounded Pope Pius XII

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Medieval pomp and pageantry surrounded Pius XII in the most impressive ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church.

Yet no other pope ever received so many people as simply as he did.

His audience, like those of his predecessor, Pius XI, were "a window on the world." No pontiff had ever looked so keenly from that window as did Pius XII.

Pius XII established many records. But the one for which millions will remember him in the immediate years to come is this:

He met more people than any other pontiff. The way was made easy for anyone who wished to see him.

He received more than 10 million persons — rulers and masses, rich and poor. There were private audiences with pageantry, as when he received Princess Elizabeth, who was to become England's queen. There were less formal, and informal special audiences, and great general audiences at which humble thousands plucked at his sleeve or tried to touch his robes with rosary beads and crosses.

He received thousands of GIs after Rome's liberation. He received U. S. senators and congressmen during those months and urged them to devote themselves to aiding people of less fortunate nations.

Twice weekly during the 1950 Holy Year, general audiences were held in St. Peter's Basilica. Sometimes even the world's biggest church could not hold all the pilgrims.

His uncommon touch with the common man was evident.

"Excuse me if I made you wait a little," he said one day.

The people, hearing this use of the familiar first person singular instead of the formal "we," were astonished and silent. A moment later, Pius established easy communication and the play of answers and questions was under way.

During the Holy Year, Pius XII gave some 1,500 hours to more than 6,000 audiences of all kinds. He spoke on subjects that ranged from philosophy to smoking.

"You are surprised that we should receive you," he told a tobacco workers' congress. "But why not? You represent a large section of workers. That is reason enough."

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Note to readers: Thanks for all the nice letters. As many questions as possible will be answered in this column, but for obvious reasons replies must be brief.

Q. "Does shaving the legs cause the hair to grow thicker and coarser?"—A reader.

A. No. Frequent shaving will not stimulate growth of hair. If this were true, about-to-be bald men could prevent baldness by simply shaving the head a few times.

Q. "Do bleeding hemorrhoids (piles) ever go into cancer?"—O.E.

A. No. Hemorrhoids can be very distressing but the condition itself does not lead to cancer. However—and this is very, very important—rectal bleeding from any cause calls for an examination by a physician. The bleeding may just be due to hemorrhoids or it may be due to something far more serious.

Q. "I am 60 years old and in pretty good health but have trouble sleeping at night. Should I take vitamins?"—No name.

A. Insomnia (inability to sleep throughout the night) is a common complaint. The sleep pattern seems to change as we get older. Most teenagers can sleep the clock around. In later life, these sleepyheads will require less sleep. Vitamins won't help and drugs to induce sleep shouldn't be used unless prescribed by a physician.

Q. "Please give information on mongolism. Does glutamic acid and thyroid help?"—H.S.

A. The cause of mongolism remains a medical mystery so there is not much to go on in developing a method of treatment. Mongoloid children are born to people of all walks of life—the rich and the poor; the brilliant and the dull. For a while doctors thought glutamic acid was helpful but it is now generally agreed that this drug is of little value in mentally retarded children. Thyroid is no better unless, of course, there is a definite thyroid deficiency.

Q. "What is the best way to remove superfluous hair on the lip and chin?"—No name.

A. The only way to permanently remove unwanted hair is to destroy the hair root. If hair growth is extensive, the dermatologist (skin doctor) may use an electric needle. This may require several trips to the doctor's office. Lip and chin hair can, of course, be shaved.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Dr. J. D. Ralston, Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Square Station, N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

U.S. Taking No Comfort

Woeful Signs For Nasser Loom On Mideast Horizon

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baleful signs for Gamal Abdel Nasser are beginning to appear on the troubled horizon of the Middle East, but American officials are taking no comfort from them.

Nasser and his flirtation with Moscow have been the bane of U.S. policy makers for years. The thorn has been particularly irksome because they had such high hopes for him when he overthrew the corrupt and decadent Egyptian government of King Farouk in 1952.

His power reached a peak last Feb. 1 when Egypt and Syria merged into the United Arab Republic. At last he had taken a giant step toward his goal of uniting all the Arab countries.

But Nasser may now be having second thoughts, not only about the wisdom of taking over Syria, but also about leading pan-Arabism as well.

Nasser is confronted with a disenchanged and restive Syria within his own camp and a strong new Arab force outside it.

The best available intelligence estimate here on the Middle East is an apprehensive one. In the opinion of one highly qualified experts, almost anything could happen anywhere—perhaps before the month is out.

Nasser is faced in Iraq with the rise of Abdul Kassem, leader of the July 14 revolt which threw out the pro-West government of King Faisal and Premier Nuri Said. Premier Kassem is no pan-Arab like Nasser, but an Iraqi nationalist. Nasser cannot dispose of Kassem as an American stooge or a tool of Britain.

Kassem demonstrated his independence and growing power last weekend by smashing a revolt led by troops following Col. Abdul Aref, his chief rival. Aref, a strong supporter of Nasser, has been agitating for Iraq's annexation to the U.A.R.

Iraq and Syria, lying together in the Fertile Crescent, are far closer culturally than are Egypt and Syria. Reports are that some in Syria, unhappy over playing second fiddle in the U.A.R., would like to break away and join up with Iraq.

Nasser may have been reacting to such sentiment when he reorganized his Cabinet two days ago. Of the 21 members, 15 are Egyptians and 6 Syrians.

According to some advances, Nasser now believes Egypt and Syria might better have federated, instead of merging. That way each would have preserved more national identity, and less responsibility would weigh on him.

One result of Nasser's difficulties in his new role might be to arrest his ambition to get all Arab states under his power. But there could be a far more ominous result.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia is reported ailing while intrigue rages among the princes over who should succeed him. The Sudan is shaky and Yemen is no better off, these reports say.

Lebanon's leaders are fighting among themselves in what could develop into a religious war, pitting Chistians against Moslems in a further confounding of an already embittered situation.

A weak and confused Nasser would not be a welcome sight to Washington officials concerned about the general state of Middle East affairs. They were happiest when Nasser emerged as a leader. He seemed then to be the one man commanding general respect with whom they could get things done.

AND THE NEW CHAMP. Dwarfing her 3-year-old sister, 27-month-old Darlene Maynard weighs a record 85 pounds. Normal at birth, the youngster has been gaining weight at the rate of six pounds a month. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Maynard of Huntington, W. Va., hope to take the child to a Philadelphia specialist to see if her rapid growth can be checked. (UPI Telephoto)

Farm Plan Agreement Effective To Dec. 31

Agreements under the 1958 acreage reserve program remain in effect until Dec. 31, G. M. Swick, chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today.

He expressed concern that some farmers who already have been paid for land placed in the 1957 acreage reserve may believe that they have already complied with the program fully. The provisions of the agreements remain in effect even though the payment may be made before the end of the year.

Under the acreage reserve, the land specifically designated by the farmer for the program may not be cropped and livestock may not be permitted to graze on it. The only exception is that winter crops for harvest in 1959 or later may be planted on the reserve this fall.

Iraq Completes Crimes Trial Against Jamali

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq's special military court has completed the trial of Fadhil Jamali on charges of crimes against the state and people during the monarchy. He is in prison awaiting the verdict.

Advices from Baghdad today are that the ex-premier, recent foreign minister and former chief of the Iraqi delegation to the U. N., may not learn his fate for weeks.

The five-man court, set up the revolutionary government after the overthrow and killing of King Faisal in July, reportedly intends to complete the trials of all accused leaders of the king's regime before announcing the verdicts.

Talks Slated Monday In Tire Firm Dispute

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Company and United Rubber Workers representatives will meet Monday to discuss a dispute which idled 2,000 workers at General Tire & Rubber Co.

The walkout, first major strike at the plant in 12 years, resulted from suspension of workers in the truck tire division. Employes returned Thursday night, 24 hours after the strike began.

The suspensions, stemming from a rate dispute, will remain in effect pending Monday's meeting, the company said.

Toledo Labor Unit To Drive Against 'Right Work' Plan

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The 70,000-member Toledo Labor Conference has voted not to endorse any candidates in next month's election. Instead, it will campaign to defeat the proposal to regulate labor contracts in Ohio.

The announcement was made Thursday by Richard T. Gosser, chairman of the conference, made up of more than 100 union locals. He said the TLC's steering committee reached a unanimous decision. He said:

"The TLC recognizes that organized labor in Ohio is in the front line of a national attack on the trade union movement. In Ohio, that attack is centered around issue No. 2 on the state questions and issues ballot in the Nov. 4 election."

Gosser added the TLC would be just as much opposed to legislation "restricting the activities of the Chamber of Commerce or the National Assn. of Manufacturers —the 'unions' of management—as it is to issue No. 2 in Ohio."

Young Attacks GOP On Rising Living Costs

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—U. S. Senate candidate Stephen M. Young told a Democratic rally here Thursday night that the Republicans and specifically his opponent, GOP Sen. John W. Bricker, have done nothing to stop the rising living costs.

"This is not surprising," Young said, "for the interests Bricker represents are more concerned with profits than government, more concerned with protecting big business than in protecting the average man."

Young said the failure of leadership by the Republican administration "is directly responsible for jeopardizing our basic economic security."

Mail Service Seen Better But Costlier

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Americans are getting better, speedier mail service under a modern, streamlined program but it is costing the government nearly a million dollars a day, the department says.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield told the National League of Postmasters in an address read by an assistant that the department will have "a staggering 351-million-dollar deficit this year."

He said higher postal rates added 450 million dollars to revenue but new salary increases will take 275 million and increased mail rates to railroads and other new costs will take the remainder.

Kickoff—8 p. m. (DST)
Place—Warren Harding Stadium.

After four straight home games, East Liverpool's Potters will hit the road for Warren tonight and a game with the heavily-favored Black Panthers, presently heading the list of the state's elite.

Ticket sales both here and at Warren indicate an estimated 9,000 fans will be on hand for the kickoff at 8 p. m. (DST) at Warren Harding Stadium.

As if meeting the state's top-ranked team isn't enough problem in itself, Coach Lou Venditti again will have to call on primarly inexperienced bench strength in attempts to add a wallop to the Potter offense due to recent key injuries.

First string tackle Mike Kapp, a 190-pounder, will miss his second straight game due to a leg injury, while the hub of the Potter running attack, Dave Zelch, will in all probability see only spot action with the defensive unit.

Fullback Bill O'Neil, who seems to spark the squad with his rugged play when at top shape, may have recovered from a leg injury enough to go at top speed tonight while halfback Dave Goodballet, whose running ability matches that of Zelch, is figured to start tonight.

O'Neil has missed two games this season with injuries while Goodballet was crippled last week and saw only limited action.

The remainder of the Potter lineup appears intact and will be virtually the same as that of last week's game with Youngstown Rayen. Craig Burbick, a junior, will fill in for the injured Kapp at the tackle slot while Henry Roach will spell O'Neil if his leg injury hampers his running, Venditti said.

At the quarterback post will be ever-improving Bob Mackall and Nick Musuraca will run at the other halfback spot. Ron Prince, Burbick and Charlie Davidson will man the left side of the line and Jim Bise, Carl Ludwig and Pat Cooper, the right side of the Potter forward wall.

Meanwhile, the top-rated Panthers appear in the best of shape and have the undeniable role of heavy favorites by virtue of victories over Cleveland Collinwood, Canton McKinley and Mansfield, and a 16-16 tie with third-ranked Cleveland Cathedral Latin.

The Black Panther backfield, headed by fleet Paul Warfield, has been termed the fastest since 1944 when the four backs could click off the 100-yard dash in 10-seconds flat. This year's foursome is only a tenth of a second worse but have more broken-field running ability.

The battle will be the first between the two schools in football history and will be probably the roughest test this season for the Potters on their power-packed schedule.

The Potters were scheduled to leave for Warren today at 5 p. m. from Patterson Field. Team and band busses were to use the reserved parking lot on Atlantic St., while public parking facilities are located in the fairgrounds and at the rear of the high school on Elm Rd., (Route 5).

Ticket sales here amounted to some 250 and the East Liverpool High School Band will make the journey along with the team and fans.

Warren is coached by Gene Slaughter, who guided the team to a 9-1 record and fourth-ranking in the state last year. The Potters have a record of 1-2-1, winning over New Philadelphia, 16-6, losing to Youngstown Rayen, 7-6, and Toledo Libbey, 22-6. The Potters tied Akron St. Vincent, 20-20, in their first game.

ELHS Band To Present Halftime Show Tonight

The East Liverpool High School Marching Band will present a dance and drill routine at the half - time show tonight at Warren. Trips to the away football games are being made possible by the ELHS Key Club and the Hall - Snyder Bus Co. Don Allen is director.

Chester, Newell To Renew Rivalry Tonight

SLOWED BY INJURIES. Two of East Liverpool's backfield kingpins, halfback Dave Zelch, left, and fullback Bill O'Neil may see only limited action tonight against Warren's No. 1 rated Black Panthers due to recent injuries. Both missed last week's game with Youngstown Rayen and appear unlikely to have recovered enough to go the full distance tonight. Zelch is a 160-pound junior and O'Neil, a 170-pound senior. At the right is line coach Nunzio Polichene, who starred in football at Kent State University and came here from Ravenna.

Tigers Take To Road For Cadiz Battle

Grid rivals of long standing—Chester and Newell—will clash in the feature game of the district tonight at 8 at Memorial Field in Newell with the Panthers favorites to whip Coach Pete Horoszko's small Big Green eleven.

The two foes have had one common opponent—New Cumberland—this season and Chester battled the Raiders to a 14-14 tie while Newell was on the short end of a 39-7 decision.

Coach Ken Wood's Wellsville eleven will try to make it two in a row tonight when they journey to Cadiz, but the perennially powerful Cards will probably be thirsting for revenge. Wellsville handed Cadiz its worst defeat last year and it occurred when the Cards were greatly weakened by an outbreak of flu.

Cadiz has lost only one game in four outings to date—a 6-0 decision to powerful Tiltonsville which bested Steubenville Big Red in a preview game.

Lisbon, loser to East Palestine last week, meets tough opposition again tonight when it faces Sebring.

Columbiana and Leetonia, with identical 1-2-1 records, will square off at Leetonia.

Salem will be going after its third victory against invading Wooster. The Quakers have a 2-2 record to date.

Irondale will journey to Wayne this afternoon, seeking to win its game in four starts.

Hi-lites And Lo-lites Of 1958 World Series

By The Associated Press

Hi-lites and lo-lites of the 1958 World Series:

First game — Braves 4, Yankees 3. Warren Spahn beat reliever Ryne Duren in 10th on Billy Bruton's single which scored Joe Adcock from second. Home runs by Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer gave Yanks early 3-2 lead. But Wes Covington's sacrifice fly in the eighth tied it.

Second game — Braves 13, Yanks 5. Braves produced seven run, first inning rally, featured by Bruton's leadoff homer and a three-run home run by Lew Burdette. Burdette was touched for two homers by Mickey Mantle and one by Bauer but had little trouble defeating Yankees for fourth consecutive time. Bob Turley was the losing pitcher.

Third game — Yanks 4, Braves 0. Don Larsen and Duren combined to pitch a six-hitter. Bauer drove in all New York's runs with a bases-filled single off Bob Rush in the fifth and a two-run homer off Don McMahon in the seventh.

Fourth game — Braves 3, Yanks 0. Spahn allowed only two hits to win his second game. Whitey Ford was victimized by poor fielding as left fielder Norm Siebern misplayed Red Schoendienst's sixth inning drive into a triple and the Braves scored the game's first run when shortstop Tony Kubek let a grounder go through his legs. Siebern also set up the final Braves' run by losing Johnny Logan's fly in the sun. Schoendienst's fine play on Yogi Berra's line drive with a runner on third and two out in the fourth saved Spahn's shutout.

Fifth game — Yanks 7, Braves 0. Turley hurled a five-hitter and struck out 10. Yanks beat Burdette for the first time, scorong on Gil McDougald's third inning homer and adding six runs in the sixth. Elston Howard's diving catch which resulted in a double play cut off a potential Milwaukee rally in the sixth.

Sixth game — Yanks 4, Braves 3. McDougald's home run and a run-producing single by Skowron off Spahn in the 10th gave the Yanks the victory. Braves bounced back for one in their 10th and had two runners on base. But Turley nailed pinch-hitter Frank Torre on a pop fly to end the game. Duren was the winning pitcher, striking out eight in an excellent 4 2-3 inning relief stint. Bauer hit fourth series homer to tie record. Howard doubled Andy Pafko at the plate after catching short fly and shortened Braves' second inning uprising.

Seventh game — Yankees 6, Braves 2. Turley, in relief of Don Larsen, allowed only two hits in 6 2-3 innings. Yanks wrapped up game in eighth with four-run rally highlighted by Howard's RBI single and a three-run homer by Skowron. Burdette was touched for two unearned runs in the second and lost his second series game. Yanks became first team since Pittsburgh in 1925 to win series after losing three of first four games.

Lincoln Sets New Record

East Liverpool's Warren Lincoln shaved a tenth of a second off the standing cross-country record of the Country Club course Thursday while stretching his undefeated string to four straight as the Potter cross-country team trounced Lisbon, 19-36.

Lincoln, a senior, jaunted over the two-mile course in a time of 10:33, smashing the previous record set a few years ago of 10:34 by an Aliquippa High School runner. Lincoln's best time of the year before yesterday's record - breaker was 10:36.

The Potter cross - country team has now attained a .500 average after losing the first two meets. Victories were over Leavittsburg and Lisbon and defeats were to Aliquippa and Bellaire.

Lisbon's Thorne was the only runner on his team that finished among the top 10. Thorne was second in a time of 11:03. Other Potters in the top 10 were Jan Allen, third; Bob Christian, fourth; Don Seibert, fifth; Walt Lawson, sixth; Don Hildebrand, seventh; Ron Hildebrand, eighth; Bob Cowsert, ninth, and Dan McCartney, tenth.

East Liverpool's Betteridge was 11th, Pike of Lisbon was 12th, and McLevey of the Potters was 13th, with Lisbon runners rounding out the order.

The next meet for the Potters is Oct. 17 with Bellaire at the Country Club. The meet will begin at 4:30.

Second Guesses On Seventh, Final Game Of World Series

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Could the Milwaukee Braves have been the world champions today instead of New York had they given Elston Howard an intentional pass?

It's possible. In fact, replaying the eighth inning of Thursday's World Series finale, won by the Yankees 6-2, brings up a lot of possibilities.

With two out, Yogi Berra doubled to right field. It would have been logical to walk Howard.

But Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney had Lew Burdette pitch and Howard broke up a 2-2 tie with a single to center. Some might say it didn't make any difference because Andy Carey singled and Moose Skowron homered.

However, Carey's single was off the glove of Eddie Mathews and wouldn't have scored anybody. And with the bases loaded, Burdette would have had his full widup and maybe worked more carefully to Skowron.

Then, too, there's always the possibility that Yankee Manager Casey Stengel would have taken Carey out for a pinch batter since Carey hadn't had a hit in the series.

Haney left himself wide open for the second guess on two other occasions. After the Yankees had failed to score in the first inning, the Braves opened up with Red Schoendienst singling and Billy Bruton drawing a walk.

It appeared the Braves were headed for a big inning. But Haney had Frank Torre sacrifice and when the inning was over Milwaukee had only one run instead of maybe a cluster.

In the third, with the Braves trailing 2-1, Bruton led off with a single. This time, instead of sacrificing the tying run to second, Haney had Torre swing away. He popped out. Hank Aaron followed with a single and the score would have been tied if the Braves had sacrificed. Instead, they didn't score and left three men on base.

But the winners always look good and the losers bad. Haney said if he had to play the series over again "I wouldn't do a damn thing differently."

Comeback Yanks Whip Braves, 6-2, To Win World Series

Climax Uphill Struggle To Dethrone Milwaukee

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The New York Yankees were back on the baseball throne today, possessors of the most brilliant triumph in their long World Series history.

Casey Stengel reigned supreme as the greatest manager in the game today and as one of the shrewdest manipulators of manpower the sport has ever known.

The perennial American League champions climaxed a courageous uphill battle Thursday when they defeated former nemesis Lew Burdette and the Milwaukee Braves 6-2. It was their 18th world title in the last 38 years, their eighth in the last 12.

But neither Stengel nor the front office was fooled. They know this is not one of the better Yankee teams. It had too much of a battle on its hands before overcoming only a fair Milwaukee club in seven games. It had to surge back from a 3-1 deficit after looking like chumps in the first two games.

It had to receive super pitching to offset mediocre hitting. It had to get help from the opposition in the way of poor base running, faulty fielding, errant throwing and horrendous hitting in the clutch in order to win.

Stengel praised his athletes to the skies after their final victory, their third in succession and their fourth in the last five games. Only one other World Series club had ever made such a comeback.

But it is safe to assume Stengel has not forgotten the promise he made a week ago, after his players had lost 13-5 to the Braves.

"I'm going to make some changes on this club," he vowed then. "There are several men on this club who don't deserve to be on it. I promise you this. They won't be here next spring."

Even at the very height of his exhiliaration, in the accomplishment of his seventh series success in nine attempts, the 67-year-old wizard of the dugout let fly a parting shot.

"Maybe now some of the other clubs in our league will want some of my players again," he said. "If we had continued to play like we did in the first four games, nobody would want our players. Now the telephone company will do some rushing business from the calls we'll get during the winter. And we'll be listening too."

It was pitching that won the pennant for New York. And it was pitching that won the series. The team batting in the series was only .211 despite the 10 home runs, half of which came in losing games. Only Hank Bauer and Gil McDouglad hit over .300.

The Yankees managed to comb Burdette and relief pitcher Don McMahon for eight hits Thursday, half of them coming in the decisive eighth inning when they scored four runs to snap a 2-all deadlock. Elston Howard's tie-breaking single following Yogi Berra's two-out double, and Bill Skowron's three-run homer supplied the coup de grace. Up to then Burdette, pitching with only two days rest, had permitted but three hits.

The Yankees had managed to stay even with Milwaukee by the grace of a couple of wild throws by first baseman Frank Torre and failure of the Braves to come through in the clutch. They scored two unearned runs against Burdette without the aid of a hit in the second inning to take a 2-1 lead.

The Braves had two good shots at starter Don Larsen and winner Bob Turley and muffed both. Even the 46,367 Milwaukee diehards sensed they had had it despite a game-tying home run by Del Crandall in the sixth.

It was the same Crandall who twice came up with the bases full and twice failed to come through.

The Braves' catcher struck out in the first nining after his team had taken a 1-0 lead against Larsen and filled the bases on three walks. In the third, Turley replaced Larsen after singles by Bill Bruton and Henry Aaron. He retired Wes Covington on a run-scoring grounder, purposely walked Eddie Mathews to fill the bases, and disposed of Crandall on another grounder.

The Braves left eight runners stranded to increase their total to 57 for the seven games. The Yankees left only 40 on base. Milwaukee hit only three home runs with such sluggers as Mathews, Hank Aaron, Covington and Joe Adcock hitting nothing longer than a double.

Turley was superb Thursday, just as he was Monday when he shut out the Braves on five hits, and Wednesday when he came in to retire the last batter on three pitches and preserve Ryne Duren's 4-3 triumph. He gave up only two hits in the final 6 2-3 innings for his second victory in two days and was voted a new automobile as the series' outstanding player.

The series brought out several Braves' flaws. It showed them to be a slow-moving, mediocre fielding, ordinary hitting club. If it weren't for the magnificent work of their two great pitchers, Warren Spahn and Burdette, they probably would have not won more than one game. They scored 17 of their 25 runs in the first two games and were shut out twice in the last five.

Even Fred Haney, who did an expert job running his team, admitted his Braves did not deserve to win.

"Those fellows came from behind to beat us and deserved to win," he said. "Give credit where credit is due. They got the hits at the right time. We didn't.

"Spahn and Burdette pitched good enough to win but we didn't get them any runs. We lost because we scored only eight runs in the last five games. Had we hit when it counted, it would have been a different story."

Other than that, Haney refused to belittle his players.

CONGRATULATIONS for Yankee Manager Casey Stengel are delivered by Braves' Manager Fred Haney in the dressingroom of the new champions in Milwaukee Thursday after the Yanks took the seventh and final game of the World Series from the defending champions with a 6-2 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

Boyd Seeks Revenge Over Beecham Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Lanky Bobby Boyd of Chicago tonight goes against Jimmy Beecham, who knocked him out of the middleweight rankings with an upset victory last August in Miami.

The 10 round middleweight scrap will be broadcast and televised by NBC from Chicago Stadium starting at 9 p.m. (EST). Scoring will be based on the five point maximum system.

Beecham, 24-year-old self-styled psychology student who migrated from Philadelphia to Miami, climbed to the No. 6 contender spot in the National Boxing Assn. ratings mainly by his victory over Boyd.

Stengel Lauds McDougald As Yankees' 'Bellwether'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Gil McDougald came through for us with some amazing plays and we just wound up looking like the real New York Yankees."

That was Manager Casey Stengel's capsule sizeup of his Yankees' triumph over the Milwaukee Braves in the World Series.

Although Thursday's 6-2 Yankee victory in the seventh and deciding series game had Moose Skowron, Bob Turley and Elston Howard as primary heroes, McDougald was New York's big playmaker and bellwether in the uphill Yankee battle over the entire series.

"You see we didn't look so hot fielding or base running early in the series," said Stengel. "Our pitching is fine, but it takes McDougald to settle us down. He made some plays that were splendid—actually amazing."

Second sacker McDougald also wound up with a .321 series batting average, topped on the Yankee squad only by Hank Bauer's .323. McDougald's 9 hits in 28 trips included 2 homers and 2 doubles.

Actually, this appeared to be a World Series the Braves forgot to win — only because the Yankees started to remember they were the Yankees.

While everybody was swooning over the great one-two Braves pitching punch of Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, Yankee pitchers made a series strikeout record that may stand for many years.

Headed by Whitey Ford's 16 strikeouts, seven Yankee pitchers whiffed 56 Braves to break the 29-year-old series record of 50 set by the Philadelphia A's against the Chicago Cubs.

It was the old Yankee recipe of timely homers which broke Milwaukee's back. They belted 10 homers against only 3 by the Braves.

One of Milwaukee's homers was a swat by pitcher Burdette, one by leadoff man Bill Bruton and one by catcher Del Crandall. None of Milwaukee's long ball artists—Hank Aaron, Wes Covington, Ed Mathews or Joe Adcock — could reach the fence.

The key blow of the series may have been delivered by Howard, a single off Burdette after Yogi Berra doubled to start the big Yankee inning.

Going into the eighth, Burdette had allowed only three hits and none figured in New York's two-run second. When Berra slapped his two-bagger with two out in the eighth, everybody expected the Braves would order a pass for Howard to fill first and make a force play possible at third or second.

But Howard punched a hopper over second, scoring Berra.

Along with McDougald, Howard figured prominently in restoring confidence to the Yankee defense. After bumping his knee on a clumsy try for Burdette's homer in the second series game, Howard yielded Yankee left field to Norm Siebern.

Bauer Leads Series Sluggers

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Bauer of the Yanks compiled the highest World Series slugging average. The veteran outfielder collected 22 total bases in 31 at bats for a .710 mark. Billy Bruton paced the Braves with .588.

Yogi Berra of the Yanks and Frank Torre of the Braves were the only players who did not strike out among those who participated in all seven games. Berra had 27 official trips and Torre 17.

It was "unlucky" seven for Lew Burdette of the Braves Thursday. Burdette allowed the Yanks seven hits in each of the three games he beat them last year and seven the first time he won over them this year. Thursday he allowed seven safeties but left the game trailing 6-2.

Joe Adcock of Milwaukee, who singled for Don McMahon in the ninth inning Thursday had the distinction of collecting the only pinch hit. Fifteen other pinch-hitters had been retired previously. Enos Slaughter was the only other one to reach base — on a walk.

Moose Skowron of the Yankees homered in the first and last games. In between he managed only five singles and wound up with a .259 batting average. Skowron's four runs batted in Thursday were only one short of the record set by Tony Lazzeri and Bill Dickey on Oct. 2, 1936, when the Yanks walloped the Giants, 18-4.

Yankee starter Don Larsen, who pitched 2 1-3 innings and gave up three hits Thursday, turned in the same performance in the final series game last year. Larsen was the losing pitcher in the 1957 finale.

Both the Yanks and Braves came up with five double plays. But New York committed only three errors and Milwaukee seven. The Braves finished with a fielding average of .974 and the Yankees with .988.

The Yankees left 40 men on base — only one under the record for fewest in a seven game series set by the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1920.

New Missile Planned For U.S. Bombers

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force plans to arm its supersonic fighter bombers with a powerful new air-to-surface missile, the White Lance.

Reports say the missile would be nuclear tipped.

The weapon, an improved version of the Navy Bullpup, will be manufactured by the Martin Co. Missile Division here.

The Air Force has not yet formally announced the name. However, it is no longer a secret within the Tactical Air Command. A section of the Martin plant already has become known as the White Lance Department.

The new super Bullpup was designed to multiply the destructive capability of the North American F100 and Republic F105 fighters.

It would be used in attacks on grounded aircraft, ships, bridges and on ground support and assignments requiring a high degree of accuracy.

It would fill a gap in Air Force weapons, providing greater accuracy than is possible with conventional bombs and offering greater firepower than is available with rockets such as the Sidewinder. The Sidewinder is designed to shoot down attacking aircraft and is not particularly effective against ground targets.

The Air Force reportedly has not yet made a decision as to the type of improved guidance to be ordered.

Known to be under consideration is a television guidance system that would enable the pilot to control the missile even beyond visual range. Some of the Air Force leaders argue that such a system would be unnecessarily costly and complex.

City Man Fined $50 In Numbers Arrest

Nabbed on a numbers-writing charge Thursday in a downtown alley by the police Special Service Bureau, an elderly East Liverpool man drew a fine of $50 and costs when he entered a guilty plea today in Municipal Court.

James Parsons, 123 W. 4th St., was taken into custody at 11:15 a. m. in Diamond Alley by Lt. Clyde W. Boso and Patrolman Thomas Walker, who said numbers slips were found in his possession. Parsons posted a $300 bond to regain his freedom pending a hearing.

Represented by Atty. Don Smith, Parsons waived the reading of the affidavit and entered a guilty plea at arraignment this morning. Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp warned Parsons the city ordinance provides a fine of up to $500 for such a violation.

He imposed a fine of $100 and costs, but suspended $50 on condition Parsons gives up numbers writing. Authorities said two other suspected numbers writers were picked up for questioning, but later released.

OSU Favored Over Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State and Illinois tangle tomorrow in this year's Big Ten football opener for each team. The odds are with the Buckeyes, but Illinois isn't listening.

Ohio State flew to Champaign today confident of picking up its third straight victory of the season. Illinois, defeated twice by its own mistakes, smells an upset.

Said Illini fullback and captain Jack Delveaux:

"We're really going to be giving it everything we've got this week for Coach (Ray) Eliot. The criticism for the first two losses should be ours, and he'll deserve the credit when we beat Ohio State Saturday."

Eliot, famed as a master of the upset, brings his crew into tomorrow's battle as nine-point underdogs.

The Illini dropped its first two games to UCLA and Duke by a total of six points. Ohio State whipped Southern Methodist and Washington by eight points, largely by capitalizing on enemy errors.

Frank Kremblas, Buckeye quarterback who was injured in the Southern Methodist game, is expected to see action again tomorrow. Fullback Bob White and halfbacks Don Clark and Dick Le Beau, who all received minor injuries last week, will also be ready.

Illinois' last victory over the Bucks came in 1953 when J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates engineered a 41-20 verdict. Since then Ohio State has won 20-7, 27-12, 26-6 and 21-7.

Cards Hope Browns Are Overconfident

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of the Chicago Cardinals — who had experience with overconfidence in collegiate football—is hoping to catch the Cleveland Browns in that mood.

"Overconfidence," Ivy said, "was one of our big problems at Oklahoma." He was a player and later assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma.

"The kids read so much about how good they were, they began to believe it," Ivy commented.

He hopes the Browns are impressed with the Browns' reputation.

"As a matter of fact, that's probably our best chance against the Browns—if they're too confident for this one," he added.

In sharpening up Cleveland's defenses for Sunday's opener before the home town fans, Coach Paul Brown is working hard to impress his Browns with the potentcy of the Cards new double wing offense.

His prime exhibit is the 37-10 pasting the Cards handed the Washington Redskins last Saturday.

Rookie John Crow spurted 83 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. Another rookie, quarterback M. C. Reynolds, completed 16 passes good for 228 yards and two touchdowns.

The Redskins could manage only one touchdown against the Cards, a runback of an intercepted pass.

2 Games To Show Top-Rated Teams In Grid Battles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Benedictine vs Massillon, and Marion Harding vs Elyria are the only Ohio high school football games this weekend in which members of the top 10 clash in the battle of the unbeatens.

Defeat could send any of them into a lower slot in The Associated Press poll.

Benedictine's state champions, No. 6 in this week's rating, and Massillon, No. 2, both have three victories. The Tigers, however, tied Alliance. Marion Harding, No. 9, and Elyria, No. 5, each have four wins.

Other games in which top 10 teams will see action are Warren Harding, No. 1, vs East Liverpool; Cleveland Cathedral Latin, No. 3, vs Cleveland East; Alliance, No. 4, vs Youngstown Ursuline; Toledo Libbey, No. 7, vs. Lima; Springfield, No. 8 vs Dayton Chaminade, and Troy, No. 10, vs Sidney.

Key Club Offers Work To Renovate City Street Signs

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti were to meet with members of the Key Club at the high school at noon today to discuss the club's offer of a project to renovate the city's street signs.

The mayor said the administration received a letter from the high school organization, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, offering to undertake the project and asking an explanation of what work should be done.

The club will straighten signs that have been turned in the wrong direction, make other repairs and submit a list of the markers that need replacement and intersections that should be marked, the mayor said.

The street markers, purchased by public subscription, were erected about five years ago as a Chamber of Commerce project.

Clinton Board Raps U.S. On Aid To Repair School

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—An Anderson County School Board member has accused White House officials of proferring pennies instead of dollars to help the board repair dynamited Clinton High School.

R. G. Crossno urged another trip to Washington, this time to see no one less than President Eisenhower. His assistants, he said, gave county officials a "run - around, heave-ho, pass-the-buck."

The criticism of federal attitudes typified the board's stand since the school was integrated under federal court orders in 1956: The board will obey the law, but the federal government must accept the responsibility for what happens.

Crossno recommended to fellow board members at an emergency session Thursday night that they return to Washington and talk with the President.

Crossno led a delegation of four county officials to Washington Wednesday. They conferred with presidential aides and came away with the promise of limited federal aid for the restoration of the building. The promise came from U. S. Education Commissioner Lawrence Derthick.

Crossno said, "They are offering us pennies. What we need is dollars. What we can expect from their proposals is chicken feed. It looks like we'll need at least $300,000."

Three pre-dawn dynamite blasts caused that much damage Sunday to the racially integrated school.

Board Member O. C. Mayes said:

"Integration of our schools by court order has caused the building to be blown up, and it is the responsibility of the federal government."

Judge Is Speaker On Middle East

The history of the Middle East, as revealed by the Bible and archeological findings, was related by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Judge Sharp traced the development of civilization in the Middle East from the times of the Sumerians in Mesopotamia through the swirls of conquest which saw the land occupied by Babylonians, Assyrians, Jews, Philistines, Greeks, Egyptians, Romans, Moslems and many other races, religions and nationalities.

The complex antecedents of the area contribute to the conflict and tense situation in the area today, with Premier Nasser of Egypt seeking to bring the whole area under the single control of the Arabic nations, and the nation of Israel struggling to maintain its news independence, Judge Sharp said.

Tom Doland was program chairman.

Chester Firemen Hold Fire Drills In Schools

Fire drills were conducted by Chester volunteer firemen at Chester's three public schools Thursday, Fire Chief Raymond Gibbs reported.

The high school was evacuated in 85 seconds, the Central School in 80 seconds, and the Washington School in 35 seconds, Chief Gibbs said.

Literature on fire prevention was distributed to students. The firemen will meet tonight at 7:30 at the fire station. Lunch will be served by William Glover and committee.

Truman Predicts Farm Price Drop After Election

CHEROKEE, Iowa (AP)—Former President Harry Truman predicted here Thursday night that farm prices under the Eisenhower administration will drop after the Nov. 4 election. He advised Iowa farmers to sell their crops before that time.

The 74-year-old former chief executive, here to aid the campaign of the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 8th Iowa District, was greeted by more than 3,000 persons in the high school auditorium.

Truman said the Republicans "might try to buy the election" in the current farm situation. He added they "did it two years ago with their soil bank payments."

"They appear to be doing it now with their high prices for noncompliance corn," Truman said.

Losing Team's Students Face Street Cleanup

Tomato throwing escapades in Chester and Newell Thursday night — part of some pre-game over-enthusiasm of high school students — ended in police intervention and an agreement to do cleanup work on the basis of who wins tonight's football contest between the two schools.

A group of Chester youths visited Newell last night, tossing tomatoes along Washington St., police reported.

A group of Newell boys later went to Chester, hurling tomatoes along Indiana Ave., 3rd St. and elsewhere, but seven were caught by Patrolman Harold Davis and taken to the City Hall.

There they were given a lecture by William Paolisso, Hancock County Juvenile Officer, who proposed an agreement by which the youths of the school losing tonight's game would clean the streets of both towns. The Newell boys agreed, police said.

Paolisso was to visit Chester High School today to complete the arrangement with the Chester students.

Congresswoman's Due For County Rally Talk

Rep. Edna F. Kelly of Brooklyn, first woman elected to Congress from the New York district, will speak at the final countywide Democratic dinner of the current campaign Oct. 25 at Leetonia.

Mrs. Kelly, widow of New York City Judge Edward L. Kelly, and Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, 18th District congressmen, will be principal speakers at the dinner sponsored by the county Democratic Women at the Orchard Hill School.

Mrs. Kelly was elected in 1949 and has been on the Committee on Foreign Affairs, active in battling communist subversion and Soviet encroachments upon the free world. She is currently heading a drive to reorganize the nation's intelligence system.

On domestic issues, she has sponsored legislation for tax relief, veterans benefits, extension of social security benefits and tax exemptions for widows and widowers. She has a son and daughter.

Don R. Gosney, county chairman, said state candidates for the Nov. 4 election have been invited. Mrs. Kay Blackburn, county chairwoman, said sales of dinner tickets is "brisk."

Lisbon Reservoir Roof Project To Cost $8,250

LISBON—The Lisbon Lumber Co. is expected to start work within two weeks on installation of a roof over the village reservoir, according to Deane Beck, chairman of the Board of Public Affairs, which accepted the firm's low bid of $8,250. The job must be completed within 90 days after starting.

The Stark Fence Service of Minerva was awarded a $493 contract to relocate the present fence, add 80 feet and construct a 20-foot gate. Seven other bids were received for this job.

The stone reservoir holds over 300,000 gallons and is 56-feet square. It has never been covered, Beck said.

The board received permission from Council to seek bids. The cover will be constructed mostly of steel and aluminum.
